LAWRENCE, Jan. 19.—Paul Hannigan, former alderman and commissioner of public works, who was shot by Dennis L. A recent request for clemency made by him on Finn's behalf was a factor with the state parole board in recommending a commutation of the latter's sentence.

Leading Financiers of Western Hemisphere at Pan-American Conference

Pres. Wilson Sends Message of Greeting—Sec. Lansing and Sen. Glass Speakers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Marked by the presence of the leading financiers and business men of the 21 republics of the western hemisphere the second Pan-American financial conference opened here today for the consideration of international problems arising from the return of peace.

President Wilson from his sick room sent a message of greeting to the ministers of finance and other prominent visitors, declaring that Pan-America sought no selfish purpose in assisting world reconstruction and would regard it as a privilege to fulfill the obligations imposed by the great advantages enjoyed by the people of these republics. Secretary Lansing brought out the same idea in addressing the delegates, when he said the Americas accepted the burdens thrust upon the new world by the war and would press forward confidently to the better days of the future.

Welcoming the visitors to the building of the Pan-American union where the general sessions are being held in the great hall of the Americas, symbolizing the peaceful friendship between the republics constituting the union, John Barrett, director general, spoke of the union's moral influence in preserving peace and building up commerce.

Secretary Glass, president general of the conference presided at the opening session which was followed by an informal luncheon given by the federal reserve board and the United States section of the international high commission. This afternoon the group committees from each country met to organize and to meet the financiers and business men of this country, appointed to co-operate with them.

President Wilson's Message
The president said in his message read at the opening session:
"I regret more deeply than I can well express, that the condition of my health deprives me of the pleasure and

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
DINNER TONIGHT

Reservations covering every available chair are at hand for the chamber of commerce dinner to be held this evening at 6:30 o'clock in Memorial hall. After a great deal of skillful planning the banquet tables have been so arranged as to accommodate 400 people and this morning's mail took the reservations to that figure. Therefore, there will be no tickets for sale at the door as it will be a physical impossibility to care for any more people.

With an attendance of 400, the dinner will be the largest the American City Bureau has ever held during a campaign in cities of less than 150,000 population and like the smoker of a week ago, it will be an epochal event in the civic life of the community.

The principal reason for the big response to invitations sent out is the result of an awakening of dormant public and civic spirit. Enthusiasm in the campaign has risen by leaps and bounds during the past three weeks and the dinner tonight marks the end of the period of education, which has blazed the trail for the intensive membership drive to follow.

Three men of great prominence and ability will address the men and women at the close of the banquet. They are Dr. Frank Crane, a journalist and editorial writer of prominence; Glenn Frank of the Century Publishing Co., and Chas. S. Andrews of Chattanooga, Tenn., widely known throughout the south as a manufacturer and banker.

Other speakers will be Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Otto Hockmeyer and Arthur D. Prince. Community singing will be led by Louis Carpenter and the Honey Boy quartet will dispense familiar tunes.

MANY CARS IN

Lowell Automobile Show at Kasino, Opens Its Doors to Public Gaze

Complete Exhibit of Motors
To Meet Every Whim
and Need

With more than a score of the best known makes of cars on display the annual Lowell automobile show at the Kasino in Thorndike street opened its doors to the public today. Although the exhibit was informally inspected during the afternoon the real opening is not scheduled until this evening, when Mayor Perry D. Thompson will officially give it his benediction on behalf of the city.

Far more comprehensive in scope than any of its predecessors, this year's show well typifies a new era of prosperity in the automobile industry. The cars on display should adequately meet every turn of whim, fancy and desire and the show should create a stimulus which will carry the city through a banner year in automobile usage.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon practically every car was in its proper place, with corps of glib salesmen and representatives on hand to cordially greet the prospects and hundreds of interested spectators who strolled through the building, stopping here and there as a rakish model or a sturdy commercial design took their fancy.

Every car was polished and groomed to the nth degree and shone as splendid examples of the makes they represented. There were intimate, road-

LOWELL WIND-SWEPT

Lowell was lashed and wind-swept yesterday as it hasn't been for years and the memory of the oldest inhabitant could hardly recall a day to equal it. Coming hard on the heels of the heavy snow of Friday night and Saturday, the gale which bore down from the north and west literally carried everyone before it, swirled the snow into hard packed drifts, demoralized street car traffic and showered the

WILL RIGIDLY ENFORCE
DRY MEASURE

Lowell police will co-operate with federal authorities in enforcing the prohibition amendment throughout the highways and byways of the Spindle City. So said Chief Welch today, in discussing the era of thirst which has settled down over the nation. All avenues for possible sales will face a rigid investigation, he declared, and if any residents of the city slip from the water wagon it will not be the fault of the police.

Already the police have discovered the existence of two "home distilleries," the chief said, and the information has been communicated to the federal authorities, who will take speedy action in the matter. Federal action also is momentarily expected in connection with the suppression of the sale of Jamaica ginger and other standard products, including even hair oils, which contain a sufficient amount of alcohol to make them popular with members of the anti-temperance fraternity.

All liquor advertising signs must be removed from the former haunts of the late John Barleycorn, said the chief, and this should be done immediately in order to comply with the law. Several former thirst parlors have already taken down their placards, but others have not yet done so. Verily, it appears that 1920 is to be an exceedingly dry year in Lowell.

If Senate Inquiry Fails To Satisfy People, Daniels Will Order Naval Board Probe

Says "No Organization in History Ever Did a Better Job Than U. S. Navy"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Unless the senate investigation of Rear Admiral Sims' charges of failure of the navy department to co-operate fully with the allies during the war is made to the entire satisfaction of the American people, an inquiry will be made by a naval board, Secretary Daniels announced today. He said that "no organization in the history of the world ever did a better job than the American navy."

While refusing to discuss Admiral Sims' letter of criticism of the department, Mr. Daniels indicated the admiral frequently clashed with his department through his insistence that more destroyers be withdrawn from the troop convoys to augment the anti-submarine forces in European waters.

NATURALIZATION
COURT OPENS

Clerk Dillingham of the superior court came to this city today and held an all-day session at the court house in Gorham street for the purpose of receiving applications for second naturalization papers. During the forenoon over 25 candidates attended by their two witnesses visited the office of the clerk and answered the necessary questions for the filing of their papers. They were mostly of English, Scotch and Irish origin with a few French and one Russian. Mr. Dillingham stated that he expected as many as at this afternoon's session. Tomorrow Mr. Dillingham will be at the court house all day for first papers and if business warrants it he will be here all day for first and second papers.

Edward F. McSweeney Points Out New Aspects of Americanization

Touches Briefly on Irish Question in Notable Address in Lincoln Hall

Gathering his views from the harvest of years of service as an immigration official of the United States government with their first hand opportunities for observation of the people of practically every race that comes to our shores, Edward F. McSweeney, noted author and lecturer, gave the members of the League of Catholic Women some distinctly new and interesting ideas on Americanization in an address at the regular monthly meeting of the league yesterday afternoon in Lincoln hall.

Mr. McSweeney pleaded for three fundamental principles in dealing with the problem of assimilating the alien—education, justice and kindness. He bemoaned the intricate and complicated machinery which has become a part of the so-called Americanization movement recently launched in this country and said that in some instances it had been taken up merely as a fad by people in sheltered homes who felt they must do something to still the prick of their consciences.

"Americanization has caught the popular fancy," he said, "and the alien has been made the scapegoat."

OUTDOOR MOVIES

Will Be Staged Next Summer
Near Bathing Pool

As an added feature of the attractions which the municipal swimming pool on the Merrimack river at Varnum avenue has already provided the public, Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department plans a series of motion picture entertainments in the vicinity of the new bath house there next summer, he said today. The bureau of commercial economies of Washington, D. C., has forwarded him a list of motion picture subjects which they will send him free of charge next summer if he wishes to use them and the superintendent believes that the films will be enjoyed here. Travel pictures and various other educational subjects go to make up the list.

The open air moving picture shows which have been given for several summers past on the North and South commons will also be continued this year and in addition a new movie "house" opened along the banks of the Merrimack.

DISREGARD COURT
SUSPEND CAR SERVICE

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The Midland Railway company, operating on Staten Island, today suspended service on five of its street car lines. The company had given notice of its intention to suspend because of the city's failure to authorize an increased fare, but the supreme court had issued an injunction preventing such action, which apparently was disregarded. Municipal buses were pressed into service to take care of the patrons.

The lone bid was received from Daniel H. Walker, who agreed to do the entire work of erecting and furnishing the building for the lump sum before mentioned.

The commission took no action on the matter but voted to go into executive session this evening at 8 o'clock. A communication from Frederick F. Mejoy stated that he would be willing

TARBOX WILL CONDUCT
ANNUAL AUDIT

Everett E. Tarbox has designated by Commissioner James E. Donnelly of the finance department to conduct the annual audit of the books of the city of Lowell, in accordance with instructions which the municipal council gave the commissioner last week when he was told to name an auditor for this work. Mr. Tarbox began his duties this morning and the audit is expected to continue several weeks. More than ordinary interest surrounds the audit this year owing to the request of Commissioner John F. Salmon of the water department that a man from the state director of accounts office conduct an audit of his department. The council ignored this request last week and voted to have whatever Commissioner Donnelly named conduct the audit of all departments. Mr. Tarbox does not come from the state department. Commissioner Salmon has expressed his intention of having a special audit of his department notwithstanding Mr. Tarbox's appointment.

In announcing the appointment of Mr. Tarbox this morning Commissioner Donnelly said that he hoped that he would be satisfactory to Commissioner Salmon because he wanted to do everything in his power to help him in the management of the water department. He also believed that the other members of the council maintained the same attitude toward Mr. Salmon. The trouble with the water department, he said, was simply that it was paying out more than it was taking in and this fact has been pointed out year after year by the auditor who has gone over its accounts. He said that Mr. Tarbox suggested that a new system of accounts be installed in the department two years ago but the then commissioner, George H. Brown, was adverse to the proposition and it was not installed.

AMUSEMENT NOTES
(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)
B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
The Princess Four, otherwise called "1000 Pounds of Harmony," will lead off on the big bill at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, beginning this afternoon. Messrs. Van, Cantwell, Murphy and Gibson are the members of this noted quartet which because of the physical attributes of its members, is listed in the half-ton class. The four men are all big chaps, and from all accounts, it took a considerable period of time to reach members who should not only be good singers but also be nearly alike in avocations. The men are quantity humorists; they sing the very latest songs and can harmonize in serious mood when they choose to do so. This is only one of the big acts for the week.

Tim and Kitty O'Meara, with Freddie Clinton, will give the most diversified dance program of the entire season. They were once under the title of the Gliding O'Mearas, and audiences will instantly recall their specially good work at that time. Since then they have been in the support of Bessie Clayton, the premiere American dancer, and have absorbed about all there is to know in the matter of dancing. Freddie Clinton, who is with them, is also one of the very best dancers on the stage. The trio should make a real sensation.

"Their First Quarrel" written by Stephen Champlin, is the title of a pretty comedy to be introduced by Duval and Symonds. The pair of players are most accomplished. They have a vehicle which is simplicity itself so far as its story goes, and yet which demands more than ordinary understanding for a sympathetic interpretation. It is the first little snag that newlyweds meet, the first little difference of opinion that looms up at the blackest cloud ever. Of course, it is ironed out well, but there is real truth as well as comedy in it.

If you like something that is thoroughly modern, take a peep at Edythe and Eddie Adair in the "Boot Shop," a lively melange of music and patter, and which shows an up-to-date salesman endeavoring to sell footwear to a pretty girl. And then there are Black, White & Upsilon, in an uproarious comedy skit; Jack Joyce, the man with the smile and Paul and Mae Nolan, graceful jugglers. Kinograms, a Bruce Seale and Topics of the Day are also to be shown.

OPERA HOUSE
There will be no performance by the Lowell Players at the Opera House this evening. The Lowell high school play, "The Girl and the Penman," will be presented, but for the remainder of the week beginning with matinee on Tuesday and continuing with a special matinee on Friday, the production by the Players will be one of the greatest of all dramatic offerings, by Oliver Bailey, entitled "Branded." Those in a position to judge, unhesitatingly pronounce this play one of the most powerful dramatic creations of the stage produced in seasons. In it Miss Marguerite Fields will find a role that will reflect, more than ever before, her unusual attainments in this particular brand of characterization. The story of the play is woven about the theme—a girl, the daughter of a notorious woman, who has been brought up in the best society. Live down the sins of her mother! The heroine, after being haunted from one seminary to another, finally decides to desert her lover and friends and flee to foreign climes in an endeavor to assume the stigma of her mother. She succeeds for a time, but it eventually returns to her and from then on she finds herself confronted with a desperate struggle to right herself with the world.

Dagene Shakespeare, the newest member of the company, will make his first appearance in the company at the Opera House, from his past successes, both in stock roles and in the biggest road shows of the past few years, he could feel assured of a pleasant assignment, and the staging of the piece will be looked after by Director Kirk with the same care and finish of past performances.

THE STRAND THEATRE
The Strand Theatre will be the center of attraction this week when the curtain will rise showing the beautiful Mack Sennett bathing girls, that is in person. These girls, "loaned" to the Strand through the courtesy of Mr. Sennett, the noted California producer of film comedies. It took a lot of telegrams of pleading from General Manager Sorrell before the king of comedy would permit his precious diving girls to stray from their studio. However, through some manner the deal is closed and the girls are preparing for a gala week away from home.

The beauty of the girls, their refreshing youth and grace and the charm of their picturesque performance can be imagined by those who have seen them in the celebrated "Two-reelers" that have made the girls famous and Mr. Sennett one of the three most important producers of animated pictures in the world. Besides the above big feature there will be the usual contributions that will make this program unquestionably the biggest and best in town. Earle Williams in "When a Man Loves," offers to the patrons a clean, wholesome feature, pleasing to both the young and old. It is entirely free from any objectionable elements and is a picture to which parents can send their children without the slightest fear. Love is the fundamental factor of life. It is for love that the average man toils. It is for love that the wife makes the home enjoyable. It is for love that the parent sacrifices many pleasures of sleep and many pleasures of life without love would be dead, existence and drudgery and nothing worth while.

For the last three days of the week, beginning with matinee on Thursday Taylor Holmes in "Nothing But the Truth," adapted from the successful stage play, will be the featured attraction. The plot of this hilarious creation of the screen, hinges on the attempt of a man to tell the honest-to-goodness truth for 24 hours.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Marguerite Clark never had a more picturesque role than that which she is portraying the first half of the week at the Merrimack Square theatre in "A Girl Named Mary," the famous story by Juliet Wilbur Tompkins. This is probably the best story written by this author. It was published first as a serial and later as a novel. It is primarily a heart interest story, all about a mother and a daughter lost when only a child. Based on the most tremendous theme in life—the average man—it was a wonderful success in published form and is even more successful on the screen. Miss Clark reaches her greatest heights in "A Girl Named Mary." Marion Davies in "The Cinema Murder," E. Phillips Oppenheim's famous mystery story, is the other feature for the first part of the week. A Mack Sennett comedy by the original Mack Sennett, starring Charles Bur-

IRISH REPUBLIC BOND CAMPAIGN

Further plans for the drive for the sale of bonds of the Irish republic in this city beginning Feb. 15 were outlined at a special meeting of the Friends of Irish Freedom held last evening in Hibernian hall. The advisory committee which had been appointed at a previous meeting announced it had perfected its organization and elected the following officers: Stephen Flynn, chairman; Winfred C. MacBrayne, secretary; Patrick O'Keefe, treasurer. Chairman Flynn spoke of the possibilities of the drive in this city and Michael J. Sharkey, a member of the committee, told of the method by which the city would be "covered" in the drive. The chairman and treasurer of the committee conferred with representatives of the Irish republic in Boston today and more definite plans for the local campaign will be outlined later.

President Patrick J. Mahoney was in the chair at last evening's meeting and announced a whisky party to be held in K. of C. hall the first week of February to secure funds for the expenses of the bond drive. Other speakers included James O'Sullivan, John P. Sheehan and Joseph P. Quinn.

LEAGUE HOUSED NEAR AMERICAN EMBASSY

PARIS, Jan. 18.—The League of Nations is housed not far from the American embassy, in Rue Paquet, where a considerable staff has been at work since the league entered into being officially three days ago. Its work, however, is still confined to organization, as the only act of the league council at its first meeting was to appoint members of the secretariat, boundary commission, which is not under the league's control.

While the council appointed three members of the commission, it is understood that by a strict interpretation of the Versailles treaty the commission will be under the direct supervision of the "Paquet" which is an abbreviation used by the league's staff to designate principal allied and associated powers.

It is expected the league will take jurisdiction over the Saar region only when an administrative mission has been organized. In the meantime the league staff will return to London, leaving probably on Wednesday. The quarters in Rue Paquet will be retained, however, as the permanent home of the league council when it meets here.

MUSICAL REVUE

BY THE M.T.I.

The Mathews have long been famous for their musical shows, but never have they presented a show to equal their 1920 Musical Revue, which is scheduled for next Thursday night in Associate hall. Not only is the music more tuneful, the young ladies of the chorus prettier and the talent far superior in every respect, but the show as a whole is no far above the average as to defy comparison.

The comedians include George "Babe" Rogers, the infatigable "Genie" Mullin, whose dry humor was one of the hits of the 1919 show; "Maff" Ryan, a voice, who will quickly prove his right to equal consideration with all others in this line; Miss Loretta Finerty, recognized as one of the best local entertainers; Miss Loretta Laverly, who gives promise of great popularity in the near future, and Miss Catherine Callery, another young singer, who is certain to meet with success from the start. Of the soloists, Miss Mary McCarthy's offering will be a source of delight to all who attend; Miss Mary McPartland is possessed of an extremely sweet voice, which will render her selection one of the best on the program; Martin Maguire is such an old favorite that nothing need be said of his ability; Edward Donohue has become a top-notch among local amateurs and always adds to his popularity; Andrew Keillor will win new laurels in a specialty well designed to display his talent; William Mahoney is a singer, who sings all songs well, and has a splendid number in this production; and J. Warren Kane always scores a success with his audience and is in extra line shape to repeat. "Billy" Carr's wistful solo will go big without a doubt. Miss Margaret Boyle is an exceptionally good dancer and will provide a high class specialty. "Private Billy" Richards, the Lowell boy who has been winning success as a professional dancer since his discharge from the army, will do some close dancing that should make a big hit.

Lieut. Joseph Reilly, one of Lowell's most prominent military sons, will give a splendid number, while Alex. Drouin will be seen in a dancing specialty.

The show is under the direction of Bernard Fourie, who had charge of last year's shows. The accompanist is William Paul McCarthy, the well known pianist, and John W. Sharkey will act as interpreter.

After the show there will be general dancing until 1 o'clock for which music will be furnished by Clarke's Union Jazz orchestra. This orchestra has met with great success on the road since its organization, and local dancers will be interested in comparing its work with that of other jazz bands which have been heard in Lowell. Frank Clark, organizer and leader of this orchestra, has promised to give the Mathews nothing but the latest and best on this occasion.

Before Women's League

Continued

Armed with a wealth of facts and figures concerning the migration of various races to this country from even pre-revolutionary times, Mr. McSweeney showed just what part the people of each race formed in the total population of the country and gave interesting little sidelights on the racial characteristics, virtues and faults of each, garnered from his years of experience and travel among alien races.

In the concluding portion of his address, which he devoted to constructive suggestions relative to the assimilation of the alien, he said that the schools must be looked to to bear a big share of the burden. The present school system of Massachusetts, he asserted, must be revised to meet present industrial and economic conditions.

The field of charity also offered opportunities for the proper assimilation of the alien, the speaker believed, providing that it was not the organized sort of charity that "gives alms but not love."

Preluding his address proper on the topic: "Some Aspects of Americanization," was a brief sketch of the Irish situation of the present day and the speaker took this occasion to pay a tribute to the women of Metropolitan Boston for the active part they took in a recent drive for funds for the Irish cause while the business men of that city sat back unwilling to help.

Miss Alice T. Lee, president of the league, was in the chair and despite the rigor of the weather there was a large attendance of members. Miss Lee called the meeting to order shortly after 8 o'clock and made mention of the death of two members of the league since the last meeting—Mrs. Brosnan and Miss Byrne. Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director, led those present in a prayer for the deceased members.

The president then told of a gift of a statue of the Blessed Virgin for the league office in Central street by John A. Phelan. This will be blessed by the spiritual director in the near future and members of the league were invited to visit it.

Among the activities planned for the coming month are a round table talk by Miss Rose Geary, under the auspices of the civics class next Thursday at 4.15 at the league rooms in Central street, which will be open to all members of the league; a lecture by John P. Farley on "Citizenship—Its Fundamentals and Essentials," in Memorial hall Feb. 6 at 8 p. m., open to all women of the city; the formation of classes in cooking, millinery and home nursing during the present week under the direction of Miss Grace Delaney, chairman; rehearsals of the league orchestra every Monday evening at 7.15, and a meeting of the band, mandolin and guitar club Wednesday evening at 7.30 under the direction of J. A. Handley, who has kindly consented to direct the organization. There are still a few vacancies in this class, the president announced, and applications for membership should be sent to Mrs. John T. Donohue, 525 Amherst street, or to the president.

Miss Lee then turned the meeting over to the family of Mrs. Donohue who entertained with a unique and exceptionally brilliant musical program. Mrs. Donohue was at the piano, her daughter, Miss Grace Donohue, at the harp, and her sons, John, Charles and Paul, playing the violin and cello. Their program included "The Angel's Serenade," selections from "The Bohemian Girl" and the "Triumphal March" from Verdi's "Aida." Later Miss Donohue gave an exquisite vocal solo, accompanying herself on the harp. The talented family was roundly applauded for its efforts and Miss Donohue's skilled control of the harp was especially admirable.

Mr. McSweeney's Address

The president then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Edward P. McSweeney.

In opening, Mr. McSweeney referred to English propaganda which he said had been going on in this country from the beginning of the war up to the present moment at a rate unequalled in history. He said that a short time ago a movement was started by the Irish race in this country to raise a fund to offset this propaganda and this movement was given the fealty and sympathy of Cardinal O'Connell in a speech delivered at Madison Square Garden in New York a year ago last December and the support of Cardinal Gibbons a short time later. Despite this fact, the people of Irish blood in Massachusetts were behind every other state in the country in backing this fund. Mr. McSweeney himself was a member of the committee appointed to conduct the campaign in this state and serving with him on that committee was James O'Sullivan of this city.

"When we went to the business men of Irish blood in Boston and told them what we wanted," the speaker continued, "we met with little or no response owing to the fact that they have been created in that city because some of our people have succeeded in obtaining prominent political offices. We told them of the needs of Ireland and asked them if they were not proud of its past history, of the part men of Irish race had played in the history of the United States. But the business men of Boston gave us practically no support."

"Suddenly a member of the committee suggested that we ask the women of Boston to help us. We called together groups of women of Irish blood and told them what we wanted. From that day we didn't need the help of anybody else. The women of Metropolitan Boston put their shoulder to the wheel and very soon Massachusetts was up among the leaders."

"The present moment is the most fateful time in the lives of people of the Irish racial group. This is the only race that has been left in servitude by the Paris conference. Unless the Irish come to realize their danger and to assert themselves now, they will have missed a splendid opportunity."

"But I wanted to bring out these facts to show under what circumstances women are coming into their political heritage. If women can be interested in such things as these, we can come out all right."

Some Aspects of Americanization

Mr. McSweeney then came to his main topic, "Some Aspects of Americanization." He said that the political and economic disturbance which we are now going through is but similar to those which we have experienced after every war.

"The fabric of human relation has been torn in twain," he declared; "the times are so tragic that any solution is welcomed. Therefore, Americanization has caught the popular fancy and the alien has become the scapegoat."

"There are 27 distinct Americanization organizations in or around Boston, but among them there is no unity of purpose. The reds we have among us are the products of our national neglect. Every red who is unjustly arrested for advocating in an extreme form the internationalism which those in high places in our government are practicing is a martyr to his cause. Most of the red raving is foolish; some of it is wicked and should be punished. We have seen our alien with oats for 25 years and now we must be ready to accept the headache and propose a remedy."

"There has been no appeal to racial pride in our Americanization program. The alien is assumed to be inferior and on this assumption we cannot expect co-operation from him. Everything wrong in the country is attributed to the alien and everything good to the Anglo-Saxon."

The speaker then undertook to review the various alien immigrations into this country from pre-revolutionary times. The largest single race group to come here before the revolution, he said, came from the British Isles and therefore, "it is to be assumed that this country is largely English." He pointed out that during one year of this period 10,000 children were smuggled from the streets of London to service on Virginia tobacco plantations. Even felons were transported here from England, he asserted, and Virginia was primarily a felon colony. New England escaped the felon stream because it had no plantations.

"Hordes of deported Irish were sent here by Cromwell," Mr. McSweeney continued. "Thousands of them were gathered, their Irish names taken from them and they were dubbed 'Smith,' 'White,' 'Black,' 'Green,' or the names of trades, such as 'Baker' or 'Carpenter.' It is small wonder that it is difficult for some people to trace their lineage."

"Irish Cobb, the famous writer, set out to trace his ancestry recently and

TOO WEAK TO DO ANYTHING

A Serious Feminine Illness Remedied By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Casco, Wis.—"After the birth of each of my children I had displacement and was so weak I couldn't do anything I found a book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I thought I would try it, and after taking it I soon felt better. That was fifteen years ago and I have felt well ever since except that I had a slight attack of the trouble some time ago and took some more of your Compound and was soon all right again. I always recommend your medicine and you may publish my testimonial for the benefit of other women.—Mrs. JULES BERO, Jr., R. 1, Box 39, Casco, Wis.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ailments in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Mrs. Bero's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

After much investigation found that he was descended from an Irishman named O'Connor and that 'Cobb' was a Danish corruption of the name. The whole folklore of our south can be traced to Ireland, the buck and wing dance never saw Africa but is merely an interpretation of the Irish jig; Lincoln and Jefferson, two of the leaders of the Civil war, were of half Irish blood; Woodrow Wilson is only two generations away from Irish blood on both sides and his family did not begin to live in this country until 1811.

"The speaker then reviewed the coming of other races to this country, the proportion of our national population which each race now forms and the various characteristics of each. He said that one of the factors that must be considered in any Americanization program is the exploiting of aliens by steamship companies which give the alien a prepaid ticket and then keep him in servitude until he works out his passage. He said that our labor situation in this country will soon be vitally affected by the emigration of a million and a half aliens who are planning to visit their homeland as soon as there are ships available to take them.

In conclusion, Mr. McSweeney pointed out some remedies for the problem of assimilating the alien. The first he said, was the school. The Massachusetts public school system, he declared, was never designed to train people for practical life, but rather for college. Up to 1820, he said, public school education was confined to those who were able to pay for it. He claimed that the lack of practical education in the schools was an invitation to revolution. He felt that the Massachusetts system needed revision to meet alien and industrial needs.

Such institutions as the Rockefeller and Carnegie foundations he felt to be a boon to science but "obvious dangers to the democracy of our country because they seek to place the education of our children in the hands of a few men."

The field of charity also afforded excellent opportunities for real Americanization work, Mr. McSweeney said. If we accept the alien as a brother and not have him come under the care of the "organized charity worker who gives alms but not love."

"We can't meet the alien on equal terms," he concluded, "until we meet and act together and not see him merely as a rival for our job. My formula for Americanization is very simple—education, justice and kindness."

Following Mr. McSweeney's address, Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director, spoke in a congratulatory vein and complimented the members of the league on the success of the afternoon's meeting. The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn, Miss Marion Ryan leading and accompanying on the piano.

THrift WEEK AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Thrift week was inaugurated at the State Normal school this morning, when Mr. C. T. C. Whitcomb, New England agent for the war loan savings division of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston, spoke to the students on the growth of the thrift movement throughout the country and its adaptability to school work. He discussed the history of the movement during the war and since its close and showed how important it had become in teaching in inculcating a spirit of thrift in pupils.

This lecture was a part of a well defined program which will continue at the school throughout the present week. Programs will be presented

Anti-Toxin Saves Girl's Life

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Anti-toxin rushed here Saturday from Washington and administered to 8-year-old Lena Delbene, a victim of olive poisoning at the Fordham hospital, is believed today to have saved her life. The child's parents, a brother, sister and two uncles all died within a week as result of eating germ-laden olives.

The serum arrived too late to save the life of Dominick Delbene, the girl's uncle, who died Saturday night, two hours after it had been injected into his arm. Angelo Delbene, another uncle, died before the serum arrived.

Towboat Service Tied Up by Strike

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Towboat service in New York harbor was affected today by a strike of firemen, deckhands and cooks for a wage increase and an eight hour day. Four thousand men went on strike, according to officials of the Harbor Boatmen's union. Some towing concerns met the union's demands. In addition to $1 per day for food, deckhands and cooks seek $115 a month and firemen $125.

The wage scale sought is an increase of $35 a month. The strikers claim they now have to work 11 hours a day and have to report on boats an hour before they start work.

M. Jourdain was minister of labor in the Clemenceau cabinet and M. Le Troquer was under secretary of state for the liquidation of stocks. These are the only members of the Clemenceau ministry retained. M. François-Marsal is the manager of the Banque Union Parisienne. He is neither a deputy nor a senator.

M. Millerand remarked to the newspapermen at mid-day that he had had a talk with former Premier Rene Viviani.
"He said he was not willing at the present moment to enter the government," said M. Millerand, "but he assured me of his fullest support."

Clemenceau's Cabinet Resigns
PARIS, Jan. 18.—The cabinet of Premier Clemenceau resigned yesterday. President Poincaré last night asked Alexander Millerand, governor of Alsace to form a new cabinet.

The outgoing ministry has been in office since Nov. 16, 1917.

M. Millerand was first called to the Elysee palace at 4:30 p. m. He then conferred with President-elect Deschanel. M. Clemenceau and Leon Bourgeois, president of the national assembly. He returned to the Elysee palace at 7 o'clock at which time M. Poincaré formally requested him to form a cabinet to succeed that of M. Clemenceau. He said President Poincaré had asked him to consult with M. Deschanel before undertaking the task.

M. Millerand said last night that he had a long conversation with M. Deschanel, who gave him his best wishes for success.

President Poincaré, after receiving Premier Clemenceau and all the ministers and sub-secretaries and receiving their resignations yesterday morning, expressed the gratitude of France for the premier's services and his personal appreciation of their excellent relations.

President Poincaré visited M. Deschanel at the Bourbon palace at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to discuss the situation and decide who should be entrusted with the task of forming a cabinet. He then received M. Bourgeois at the Elysee palace to consult with him regarding the choice of a premier.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT WANTS MACHINES

When the health department makes up its estimates for 1920 one of the items which will be included will be an expenditure for the purchase of several automobiles for the department, according to Agent Francis J. O'Hare. Mr. O'Hare believes that the inspector of contagious diseases as well as himself should have a machine. At the present time there is a horse used by the department but owing to the natural growth of the work of the department this is proving most unsatisfactory at the present time.

Mr. O'Hare points out that if he had a machine he would be able to take immediate action on a number of cases that come to his attention, whereas at the present time there is often a lapse of several hours before the case can be taken care of. It is conceivable that in some instances the delay might mean the difference between life and death.

"When there is a case of serious illness telephoned into the office here," said Mr. O'Hare today, "it often happens that the matter must be given immediate attention. With but a single horse for this work it means that there is unavoidably a delay, whereas, if I had a machine I could go out at once and if the victim needed to be sent to a hospital immediately I would know of the fact within a short time after first getting the call. At the present time there is often a delay of several hours. The same holds true of the inspector of contagious diseases, who could cover much more ground if he had a machine. I asked for machines last year but the council did not see fit to grant the request. However, the request will be made again this year."

Dr. Charles E. Simpson, state health officer, believes that the agent should have a machine if he is to do his most effective work.

THREE INFLUENZA CASES
Three cases of influenza were reported at the board of health office this morning. The cases are all confined to one family and are the first to be reported this year.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS WILL SURELY WANT TO ENTER THE GUESSING CONTEST

At 12 o'clock this noon Mayor Perry D. Thompson turned on the juice which started an automobile wheel to revolve. This wheel is now revolving in our Merrimack Street Window, next to Page's, and will continue to revolve steadily until Saturday evening at 9 o'clock when the contest will close. To the automobile owner who guesses nearest to the number of miles that the wheel has traveled during the period (Monday noon until Saturday at nine p. m.) a Hood Tire will be given. Contest is open to automobile owners only. All "Guesses" are to be submitted on the special blanks which may be secured at the Information Desk Street Floor. Guess how many miles the wheel has traveled from Monday at 12 o'clock until Saturday at 9 p. m. and we will give the lucky guesser absolutely free a Hood Tire—(cord if manufactured in the size used by the winner).

BIRD NOT CANDIDATE

Won't Run on G.O.P. Slate
For "Personal Reasons"—
Advice to Republicans

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Charles Sumner Bird will not be a candidate for delegate-at-large to the republican national convention, which will be held in Chicago next June. In a statement given out last night Mr. Bird says that for personal reasons he will not run, and that, in addition, he wants to give the younger men a chance to go to the convention.

He seizes the opportunity also to give a little advice to the republicans. He tells them that no republican nominated by "a back door bargain or by a gunshoe convention" can be elected president, and that the independent voters, who will control the coming election, "will not support any candidate who is hitched to the chariot of the reactionary interests, or, in fact, any candidate who has not been in hearty sympathy with the virile ideals and sturdy Americanism of the late Theodore Roosevelt."

GETTING AFTER THE AUTOMOBILE THIEVES

Assistant District Attorney George Stanley Harvey, who was delegated by District Attorney Tufts to handle the investigation of the methods of the various auto thieves, has made a report to Judge O'Connell of the superior court, who is presiding at the present session of the superior criminal court at East Cambridge.

As the result of the work done under the direction of Mr. Harvey, some 200 indictments have been returned by the grand jury. These indictments are against 135 persons, of whom 106 have been arrested. The police are seeking for 29 others. Fines amounting to $1800 have been imposed and expenses totalling $524 have been paid. Restitution to the extent of $2900 has been made by various defendants. The police have recovered 75 cars, the average value of which is $500 or a total of $50,000.

A large number of defendants have been brought into court and punishment ranging from state's prison sentences to heavy fines has been inflicted.

LABOR TO FIGHT ANTI-SEDITION BILLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Formal announcement that the American Federation of Labor would oppose "with whatever power it may possess" the enactment of the anti-sedition bills now pending in congress, was made yesterday in a statement issued by Samuel Gompers, president of the federation.

The attack of organized labor, its chief aim indicated, would be directed impartially against the Sterling bill, recently passed by the senate, and against the Graham measure, based on suggestions of Atty. Gen. Palmer and awaiting action by the house rules committee for a special rule to expedite consideration.

Referring to the two measures as one bill, President Gompers declared its enactment "would violate the constitution and rob the whole American people of their most cherished and basic guarantee of free government."

"If the American people and in fact a majority of the members of congress," Mr. Gompers declared, "were awake to the dangers concealed in this bill, a storm of indignation would swamp the nation."

"It has been widely advertised that this measure protects free speech fully, but prevents advocacy of forcible revolution, Bolshevism and anarchy. In fact, it would perpetuate an autocratic censorship over the entire American press. It can be used to kill free speech and free assembly. It strikes a deadly blow at legitimate organizations of labor or any other progressive movement for the betterment of the masses, which may be opposed by the advocates of privilege and reaction."

"We yield to no man, in public office or out, in our loyalty to the constitutions of this republic; no self-respecting man has questioned or dared question that loyalty. We are for evolution, not revolution; for ballots, not bullets; for a majority rule, not less dictatorship of Bolshevism or plutocracy of the profiteer."

"We oppose this bill because every legitimate purpose for which it is framed already is covered by existing law. Its illegitimate features, which compose two-thirds of the draft, are utterly autocratic, imperialistic and un-American."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AS A RELIGION

Rev. Herbert B. Benton in preaching a civic sermon at the Grace Universalist church yesterday, declared that the new chamber of commerce will serve the city as a sort of religion and will be instrumental in placing co-operation above denominationalism, while taking the form of a social center and binder.

He preached from the thought, "Where There is No Vision, the People Perish," and characterized the chamber of commerce expansion plan as a broad, democratic organization dependent upon service and unselfishness, embracing the welfare of the entire community, which in turn will directly reflect upon the welfare of the nation.

"What do you want Lowell to be in 1926?" he asked. "Begin now and make your plans. The chief asset of a city is not found in highly developed water power; it is not found in great factories, nor in clever business men, but rather in intelligent and high-minded citizens. The chamber of commerce is calling on you to be good citizens. Anyone with a civic conscience knows the needs of his city. We are being called upon to think.

"In order for anyone to be successful

he must think out what he wants and then go after it. We must have a goal and work to attain it. The individual and the city together must work for that success, or it will never come. No man is a decent friend unless he sees his friends' needs and tries to help them."

"There will be harmony in the new chamber of commerce, whereas today they have no harmony. This is true in the churches as well. Instead of going in the right direction we are going in the wrong path, and it is because we do not co-operate. The question of this chamber of commerce is most timely. There is no line of demarcation between service and religion, and I do not believe that any religious effort lends itself to individual benefit, but rather to the benefit of the whole."

GREAT ARSENAL TURNS TO PEACEFUL PURSUITS

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Even the great Woolwich arsenal has turned from the manufacture of war material to the peaceful pursuits of trade. Ten thousand butter churns have been manufactured in the great building which during the war sent out vast quantities of munitions for use against the Germans.

The nickel purchased to manufacture bullets is being used in the arsenal to make five-cent pieces for British Honduras currency. There is a world shortage of locomotives and railway cars.

MOTHERS, DO THIS—

When the Children Cough, Rub Musterole on Throats and Chests

No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into cough or worse. And then when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt, sure relief. It does not blister. As first aid and a certain remedy, Musterole is excellent. Thousands of mothers know it. You should keep a jar in the house, ready for instant use. It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

50c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

To meet this it has been decided to manufacture these articles in the arsenal and work already is underway there on orders for 2500 cars, 100 locomotives and for repair work on 700 cars.

This serves a double purpose. Thirty thousand persons now are employed in the arsenal where 110,000 were at work in wartime. Thousands of these men are skilled munition workers. By keeping these busy making locomotives and other peaceful products, the government not only gives them work but retains their services. In event of another war they could return immediately to the munition works in which they are skilled.

One of the side-line products of the arsenal since the armistice has been the striking of 6,000,000 war medals.

TURKS MAKE PROTEST

Oppose Plan To Dismember Empire and Internationalize Constantinople

CONSTANTINOPLE, Wednesday, Jan. 14.—Protest against the reported intention of the peace conference to dismember the Turkish empire and to internationalize this city were voiced at a great mass meeting held here today. Great enthusiasm was aroused by orators, who denounced on Turkey's "inalienable rights" to Constantinople.

Resolutions were adopted declaring Constantinople should be maintained as the capital of Turkey and the seat of the government; demanding the evacuation of Smyrna and adjacent regions by the Greeks, asking for an immediate conclusion of peace; asserting the integral sovereignty of the Turkish nation should be maintained over territories in which the majority of the inhabitants are Turks, and giving assurance that the rights and interests of Christian or Turkish minorities would be safeguarded.

Calm reigns in this city, order being maintained by Turkish and international police.

CONCERT WAS ENJOYED

There was a large audience at the concert given last evening in St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street, the affair having been organized by the young men of South Lowell for the benefit of St. Marie's church. The program was of the most enjoyable and was highly appreciated. Those who took part were Commissioner James E. Donnelly, L. N. Gullbault, Misses Dion, Eugene Gullbault, Sylvio and Elias Nadeau, Marital St. George and others.

FORM LEAGUES TO TEACH COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A description of the accomplishment of the international high commission toward promoting trade relations among the countries of the Americas was given to the Pan-American financial conference today by John Bassett Moore, vice chairman of the commission, which was created by the first Pan-American financial conference held in Washington in 1915.

"Substantial ameliorations of methods of customs administration have been secured in various quarters," said Mr. Moore. "Regulations permitting the simultaneous loading and unloading of cargoes, and the advance preparation of cargoes, have been brought about in numerous countries."

"Progress has been made with the adoption of a uniform statistical classification of merchandise. Six countries have already taken favorable action, and two more are understood to be on the point of doing so."

"Every effort has been made to advance uniform legislation in regard to bills of exchange, checks, bills of lading, and warehouse receipts."

"We seem to be rapidly approaching the time when, so far as concerns bills of exchange, there will, in effect, be only two systems, in use in the western hemisphere, based, respectively, on The Hague rules of 1913 and the United States negotiable instruments act of 1916."

"The commission has also been glad to observe a growing interest in the adoption of uniform legislation on the subject of warehouse receipts, as well as on that of conditional sales."

Mr. Moore suggested that countries of the southern group which had ratified a treaty for the international protection of trademarks at the international bureau in Havana pending the establishment of a bureau at Rio Janeiro, which awaits ratification of the treaty by a sufficient number of countries of the southern group.

Progress had been made toward facilitating operations of commercial travelers, he said, by a treaty which substitutes a single national fee in place of local taxes on travelers. This convention has been signed and ratified by five countries and signed by three more while seven others are ready to sign.

A treaty for the establishment of an international gold clearance fund to assure the safety of deposited gold, avoid its shipment and stabilize exchange has been signed by two countries and approved in principle by eight others.

Agreements for the arbitration of commercial disputes have been made between the United States chamber of commerce and the national chambers of commerce of Uruguay, Ecuador, Panama and Guatemala. Other agreements are being negotiated.

LIFTING BAN MEANS PEACE

London Papers Declare Modification of Russian Blockade Ends Hostilities

Statement Decision Leaves Relations Unchanged Is Termed "Camouflage"

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Details of how the allies are to finance trade with the people of soviet Russia under the modified Russian blockade have not as yet been announced. It is contended in some quarters the decision of the supreme council to reopen trade relations was not a sudden one, but for months past and that the initiative in these negotiations was taken by Russian co-operative societies. These societies, according to the Herald have maintained a difficult neutrality ever since the allies assisted Russian factions hostile to Lenin and Trotsky. The newspaper adds that Russian purchases will not be limited to £40,000,000, which it is understood the soviet government is prepared to place in foreign banks as soon as trade relations are established.

Other newspapers continue the discussion especially relative to the idea that the raising of the blockade entails the conclusion of peace with the soviet government. The Times which ascribed the decision to reopen relations entirely to Premier Lloyd George says: "The statement that this decision leaves unchanged the attitude of the allies toward the Bolshevik government is regarded as a palpable and insolent untruth. The newspaper further contended that Lenin and Trotsky will certainly seize whatever goods are consigned to co-operative societies, and expresses the opinion that Mr. Lloyd George's regard for home politics and advanced laborites had more to do with the decision than the sound views of national advantage and national honor."

The Chronicle which is a firm supporter of the premier attributes the decision to the supreme council at Paris and says:

"The statement that the council is dealing only with the co-operative societies and not the soviet government is camouflage."

The newspaper maintains the allies must make up their minds whether it is going to be peace or war with the Bolsheviks and if not prepared for war, ought without delay to take the lead in making peace and not indulge in a miserable scramble of successive capitulations."

Definite peace is coming, says the Daily News which adds that starvation in Europe is forcing the allies to end hostilities.

"The truth which this deviation brings home," says the News, "is that force has failed as it always does, fail when employed in conflict with an idea."

Violent Headaches

I took RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, with the hopes that they would help me to get stronger. Having suffered from general weakness for a number of years, I was naturally pale and thin, had violent headaches, pains in the back, dizziness and palpitations. RED PILLS have done me an immense amount of good; under their influence I got stronger and rapidly took on weight.

600 VOLUNTEER NURSES GOING TO FIGHT "FLU"

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—A corps of 600 volunteer nurses today engaged in the combat to check the spread of influenza here.

While 1200 cases had been reported to the health authorities early today it was said that fewer cases were reported in the last 24 hours than during the preceding two days. Health department officials said the majority of the cases were mild. Fourteen deaths from pneumonia and five from influenza were recorded yesterday.

"Infants" on Ships
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Five influenza cases were discovered on board the French line steamer La Lorraine which arrived here today from Havre.

Among the passengers was Marc Pellerin, the new Swiss minister to Washington who will succeed Louis Bauer who recently resigned.

AGITATED BONES AT POSTOFFICE

The long corridor of Lowell's post-office was the scene of a zealous and enthusiastic "crap game" early last evening. No, it wasn't participated in by any of Uncle Sam's mailmen.

The audience which watched with close attention the rambling of the "bones" was made up of a quartet of youngsters, ranging in age from 15 to 18 years. Everything was progressing nicely when Patrolman J. Clark interrupted the game and escorted the quartet to police headquarters on a charge of being present at a game on the Lord's Day.

One member of the quartet was arraigned in police court this morning. Tony Falsquith was his name, he said, and he admitted that he had been among "those present."

Judge Enright stated that as the game had been played in a federal building it would in all probability be necessary for the federal authorities to handle the case and ordered Tony's case continued until Saturday. The other three youngsters, all of whom are juveniles, will also be arraigned in the federal courts, it is believed.

This was the only number on this morning's program.

There was one Lowellite arrested for drunkenness sometime between Saturday morning and last night, but the probation officer released him before court convened.

N. Y. GOVERNOR WISHES DE VALERA SUCCESS

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith, in a letter read at a mass meeting in the Lexington Theatre here yesterday, presided over by Edmund De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," expressed regret that he was unable to be present when the "freedom of the city of New York" was conferred on him.

He added that he looked forward with pleasure to meeting him in Albany on Jan. 21 and extend "sincere best wishes" for the success of the Irish republic.

Commander-in-Chief Warren Shaw Fisher of the United War Veterans presented Mr. De Valera with a large Irish silk flag and pledged the support of "his comrades to the cause of Ireland."

It was announced that $2,550,000 had been subscribed in New York to the Irish loan. Present at the meeting were James O'Mara and James T. Burke of the Dail Eireann, or "Irish parliament," who were said to have reached the United States in the same unknown manner as De Valera. It was their first appearance at a public meeting. O'Mara is one of the three trustees of the finances of the "Irish republic."

$15,000 to Irish Fund
BUFFALO, Jan. 19.—The national board of directors of the Ancient Order of Hibernians ended its session here yesterday, subscribing with the women's auxiliary of the order $15,000 to the Irish republic loan.

HELD ANNUAL MID-WINTER TEA

Members of Notre Dame Alumnae association held their annual mid-winter tea yesterday afternoon at the academy in Adams street and despite the rigors of the weather, there was a large attendance of members and the affair was delightful in every respect. Greetings were exchanged both among the members of the alumnae themselves and their former teachers. An excellent musicale was the entertainment feature of the afternoon, being held in the assembly hall. Miss Helen Broadbent of Boston, a coloratura soprano and pupil of Card Zager of the Metropolitan Opera Co. gave distinct pleasure in a series of numbers in which she was accompanied by Mrs. Joseph F. Donohoe of this city.

Other numbers included selections by Miss Estelle Coffey, harpist; Miss Margaret Donohoe and Miss Lucy Rheault, pianists and Miss Helen Cameron, violinist. After the musicale tea was served in the library under the direction of Miss Carmen Rediker assisted by Mrs. Joseph F. Donohoe, Mrs. John J. Murphy and Miss Margaret Donohoe. Members of the class of 1919 in charge of Miss Frances O'Brien acted as ushers.

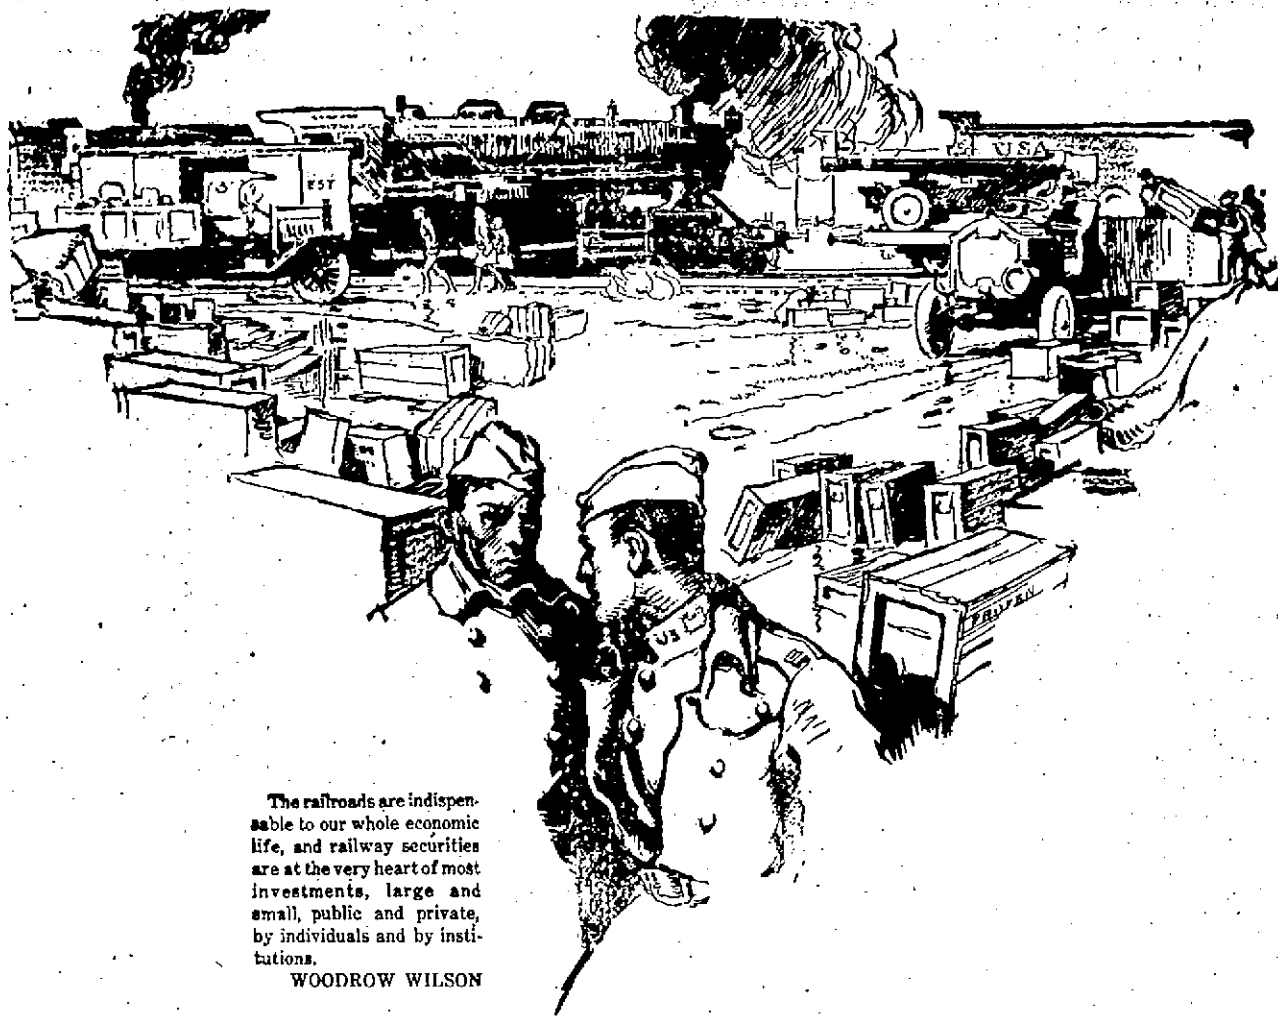

The affair closed with benediction in the academy chapel, with Rev. Dr. James A. Supple as celebrant. Mrs. Donohoe was at the organ and all present joined in singing hymns. The officers of the alumnae association were in charge of the affair.

SALE OF BIGELOW HARTFORD PLANT

As was exclusively announced by The Sun last Wednesday, the huge plant of the Bigelow-Hartford Co., comprising more than one million square feet of floor space, and having an assessed valuation of $2,016,700, has been sold to outside interests, the purchasers being J. Murray Howe and J. D. K. Willis & Co. of Boston.

The sale, which is the largest individual transfer of real estate property in the history of the city, was put through by Robert F. Marden and John H. Murphy, local bank and investment men, who it is said, obtained the consent of the Bigelow-Hartford people to negotiate for the sale.

The Boston men buy for investment purposes and will re-sell or lease portions of the plant to a number of concerns. Officials connected with the plant would be acquired by that company and the presence of William A. Wood, president of the corporation, at the plant on several occasions just prior to the sale, gave rise to the belief that this concern would be the ultimate purchaser. This persistent rumor was well founded, al-

The railroads are indispensable to our whole economic life, and railway securities are at the very heart of most investments, large and small, public and private, by individuals and by institutions.

WOODROW WILSON

THE war could not have been won without railroads. Transport—by rail and sea—is an indispensable arm of national defense.

Carrying capacity, from the wheat fields and the mines and the steel mills to the front lines in France, was the measure of our power in war.

And it is the measure of our power in peace.

Industrial expansion—increasing national prosperity—greater world trade—are vitally dependent on railroad growth.

The limit to the productive power of this country is the limit set by railroad capacity to haul the products of our industry.

The amount of freight carried on American rails doubled from 1897 to 1905—since that year it has doubled again.

It will double still again.

To haul this rapidly growing traffic the country must have more railroads—more cars and engines—more tracks and terminals.

Sound national legislation, broad-visioned public regulation, will encourage the expansion of railroads, without which the nation cannot grow.

This advertisement is published by the Association of Railway Executives

Those desiring information concerning the railroad situation may obtain literature by writing to The Association of Railway Executives, 61 Broadway, New York though the plant passed into other hands.

It is said that the transfer of the property brought commissions to the agents estimated at $40,000.

POPULARITY CONTEST WITH PRIZES

The popularity contest to be staged this evening and Wednesday night in Lincoln hall, in which an opportunity is afforded all attending to vote for the most popular president of any of the Lowell girls' clubs, already is attracting considerable attention and this novelty will no doubt be interesting to the many club organizations, as well as their friends. A handsome prize on exhibition in the hat store at the corner of Prescott and Central streets will be presented the winner and all those entering should have their names in by 8 o'clock this evening. Miss Lottie Flannagan, president of the Just-a-Moment Girls' club, is one of the early entrants and the members are working hard for her success. An excellent program has been arranged for both evenings by the management and a good time is assured all who attend.

KEEP SIDEWALKS CLEARED OF SNOW

Lowell people must keep their sidewalks cleared of snow. So says Supt. Welch. The chief reminds the public that the law states that after storms during the night the sidewalks in front of dwelling houses and other establishments must be cleared before noon, and when the storm occurs during the daylight hours the snow must be removed one hour after the storm is over. Householders and property owners are liable for accidents caused by the unsafe condition of their sidewalks, he declared.

COASTER DIES OF GANGRENE

HAVERHILL, Jan. 19.—Two deaths occurred at the Hale hospital yesterday when 12-year-old Alexander Terskevich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Terskevich, 326 River street, died of gangrene, and Josephine Schena, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schena, 122 River street, died of burns.

The Terskevich boy was sliding on Ayer street last Friday morning when his sled ran into a pole. A six-inch silver of the sled pierced his groin and gangrene set in.

The Schena child had been sliding Friday morning and went into the house to get warm. She sat in front of the kitchen fire and in some way her clothing caught fire and she was burned fatally.

VOLUNTEER FIREFIGHTERS EXTINGUISH FLAMES

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Dr. Samuel H. Murlin, president of Boston university, with his wife and Jacques Hoffmann, symphony orchestra violinist, figured as efficient fire fighters early today when flames threatened to destroy the large apartment house at 97 Hemenway street.

The firemen who had been delayed by wrong telephone directions, found Dr. Murlin on a step ladder throwing water from pans handed him by Mrs. Murlin, while Hoffmann was using a fire extinguisher. The fire started from an overheated chimney and was extinguished with small loss. Fire chiefs congratulated the volunteers saying that but for their efforts the damage would have been much more serious.

SALVATION ARMY LEADER

Col. John E. Margetts of New York, a prominent Salvation Army leader, conducted a series of meetings in Lowell Saturday evening and Sunday. With Col. Margetts were Major Widgery of Portland, Staff Captain Armstrong of Portland and Staff Captain Tyler of Boston. Col. Margetts addressed a large audience at the army hall on Jackson street Saturday evening, and Sunday morning preached a vigorous sermon at the Worthen Street Baptist church. He also spoke at the First Primitive Methodist church at 6:30 p. m. and at the army hall at 8 o'clock. Staff Captain Tyler spoke at the morning service at the Fifth Street Baptist church.

Let everybody boom production and construction, the great sources of our prosperity.

Some people predict that burglars will hereafter pass the banks and pay more attention to cellars in which liquor is stored.

It is now in order for every class of municipal employees to put in a demand or, better still, introduce a bill providing for pensions. If janitors, why not others with equal right, which is no right at all?

The United States has decided wisely in refusing further aid in repelling the Bolshevik advance through Siberia. The proposition is too vast, too vague and too foreign to be taken up by our government.

It does not appear that much progress had been made toward a compromise on the peace treaty by the contending forces at Washington. The trouble seems to be that each side wishes to have the other compromise.

Somehow, that name "Haugo," Finland, seems to fit into the scheme of things which surround the adventures of the passengers of the Ark of the Soviet. It was a good place to land them and we earnestly hope they will hang around there for some time to come.

The All-for-Lowell dinner at Memorial hall this evening, promises to be an enjoyable affair. The speakers, who are men of national prominence, will surely be entertaining and instructive. The work of organizing the new Chamber of Commerce goes booming along.

The action of the peace council in deciding that the allies shall lift the Russian blockade, indicates a disposition to conciliate the Bolshevik regime. Possibly this course may cause Trotsky and Lenin to call a halt on the Bolshevik advance towards Persia and India.

In honor of Benjamin Franklin, the great apostle of thrift, whose birthday occurred on January 17, Gov. Coolidge has proclaimed a week for the observance of thrift by the citizens of Massachusetts. Now that the liquor business has been suppressed and that everybody is expected to be good, this thrift week offers an opportunity to all citizens to look over their affairs, eliminate extravagance and practice real thrift and economy for one week, and then keep it up for the rest of the year.

The first serious coasting accident locally has come, occurring at a corner which was termed dangerous, when an automobile and double-runner crashed. We can only repeat the oft uttered warning against the usage of public thoroughfares as coasting places, and venture to say that sooner or later, this will resolve itself into a problem for the city council to deal with through the medium of a prohibitive ordinance. The police should regulate coasting so that the children who indulge the sport may have some protection.

Commendable indeed, is the rumored project of the residents of Pawtucketville to agitate the creation of a river bank park adequately to set off the war memorial the residents of that district are to erect for their war heroes. We believe the city must ultimately come to the alternative of outlining street and park development covering a certain period of years, so much to be accomplished each year until the program is completed. Under present conditions, it is most impractical and almost impossible to put through a large project in one year, but a plan may be laid out whereby the burden of cost can be distributed over a span of years.

The peace conference has demanded that Holland shall turn over the kaiser for trial on the charge of having committed great international crimes, one of which was starting the world war. It is all right to try the kaiser perhaps, if a just trial can be provided. This is very doubtful, but as for executing him, we believe the world will not approve any such drastic action. It may be well, however, to provide the kaiser with a suitable home in which he can enjoy peace and contentment for the rest of his life, after the manner of the man whom the kaiser seemed to emulate in his ambition to conquer the world.

We are inclined to agree with Commissioner Salmon in his stand for a special audit of the water department accounts. Not because we think there is any special need of an audit at this time more than formerly, but it is in the line of wise business policy to find out just how a department of this kind stands when the administration changes. It will be remembered that Commissioner Morse made certain charges relative to the conditions prevailing when he assumed control of the department. These statements to a great extent were contradicted by his predecessor in office. Had Mr. Morse called for a survey of the department when he took charge, there would be no room for any such controversy.

BIG BILLS HELD UP

A large amount of reconstruction legislation is being held up for an apparently indefinite period because of the illness of Senator Boies Penrose, the admitted "boss" of the republican party in congress. When the senate finance committee, of which Senator Penrose is chairman, will be permitted to function without his direction, is a problem.

Senator Penrose is now ill at his Philadelphia home and is likely to go to Florida to recuperate. Until he delegates his power to either Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota, the second ranking republican member of the committee, or Reed Smoot of Utah, next in line, business of even more than national importance must wait.

This situation is causing some exhibitions of marked impatience among senators of both the democratic and republican parties. The latter is more quiescent as, one and all, they bow before the sceptre of the "big boss." But they realize the political hole into which Senator Penrose has put them and are attempting to scramble out. They privately argue that as the much vaunted extra session of the republican-controlled congress failed to pass most of the constructive legislation recommended by President Wilson and even by their own party leaders, it is hardly good politics to withhold from the nation these financial bills that were squeezed through the house of representatives.

STOP CROAKING—KEEP BUSY

People who complain of the high cost of living and who think a depression which would bring down the high prices with a crash might be useful, are greatly mistaken.

Those who have gone through some of our industrial panics in the past will throw up their hands in horror at the thought of a panic with idle factories, low wages or no wages, soup kitchens and crowded almshouses. The people at the present time should thank God for the busy factories, the high wages and the abounding prosperity. What if the cost of living is high when you have the money to meet it?

What causes most people to murmur is the greatly reduced purchasing power of the dollar; but they should remember that in most cases they are earning nearly twice as much as they received ten or fifteen years ago, and if their dollars buy only half as much as before, they are getting their money's worth.

Therefore, let there be no pessimism over present conditions. We have gone through the greatest of all wars and saved the world from barbarism. It will require some years to restore normal conditions; and in the meantime, it is the duty of all to go forward with firm confidence in the future, assured that for Lowell and the country in general, the years to come hold not calamity but abundant prosperity.

Hence we say to the pessimists—stop croaking, cheer up and keep busy at productive labor.

PERSHING ENTERS

General Wood will not be allowed to utilize all the military prestige of the nation to promote his candidacy for president. General Pershing, who it was supposed would take no active step toward seeking the nomination, is now an avowed candidate as his campaign literature is flying from Lincoln, Nebraska, and other cities, to all parts of the country. It is true that he has not yet issued any personal statement, but not even his most intimid friends would take this liberty without his approval. If the republican nomination goes to a military man, that man should be Pershing or some such man as General Edwards, who rendered valiant service overseas.

So far as we can judge, General Wood has always been a much over-rated man who, in every position he has held, has had a keen eye out for official preferment. He is an army politician who has never shown any special talent either for tactics or administrations. We should not like to see him elected president because he is not a big enough man for the job.

BRITISH PROPAGANDISTS

The work of the British propagandists in this country should be stopped. Of late, it has been becoming quite meddlesome and aggressive. It is poking its nose into our affairs and even criticizing us wherever we depart from the British style of doing things.

These paid propagandists are all able and highly educated men. They are good speakers and good writers.

But why should England loose a horde of such men in the United States at this time, for the purpose of telling us what Britain has done for us, how much we owe to England as "the mother of our freedom," and how ungrateful we are to listen to any man like President De Valera of the Irish republic, when he says that England ever did anything unjust to Ireland?

They are telling us that our school histories belie England in reference to the revolution, that the "mother" country did none of the terrible things then charged against her.

If we believe these men in such matters, we cannot very well believe that George Washington was imbued with the fidelity to truth with which his biographers have credited him.

One of these British propagandists addressed a teachers' convention at Boston a short time ago, and told us that our school histories needed to be rewritten out of respect to England. Doubtless at the present time, some of the publishers enlisted in this movement are already writing pro-British histories for use in the public schools of this country.

Do not such statements show a disposition to inculcate British ideas in our schools instead of American? Yet these gentlemen speak with apparent confidence that their views of Americanism will be accepted as superior to our own because they are British.

In a recent speech at Boston, Mr. George Tucker said the narrow interpretation of "America First," if practised, would destroy America; but this gentleman and some other propagandists think it would do no harm to put "England first."

He says De Valera is deserving of the death of Bobo Pasha, the French traitor, because, as alleged by this British advocate, the Irish leader worked insidiously against the United States when her sons were dying to defend France.

That statement is palpably false because the Irish rebellion occurred at Easter, 1916, and De Valera was not free to oppose anybody when we were at war in Europe during 1917 and 1918. Neither he nor his compatriots did anything to oppose the United States or the allied cause after the United States declared war on Germany. That Ireland became lukewarm in the war was due to the fact that England refused to put the home rule bill into effect. This is what brought the Sinn Fein into power and prominence.

This same speaker, in his Lowell address, while wishing to convince us that England has been our staunchest friend, went so far as to intimate that Dewey could not have won the battle at Manila bay had not England been at his back. Here are his words:

"Because of the support of England in Manila bay, Commodore Dewey was able to say to the self-projecting and annoying Admiral Dewey of the German navy 'Don't get your flagship between my guns and the enemy'—I'll sink her."

On this point also, as well as in reference to the war of the revolution, England would rewrite our history to suit herself and give her whatever credit might be attached to the event.

With similar presumption, the English premier voiced British sentiment a few weeks ago by saying that England had just defeated the greatest empire on earth.

Another British propagandist, Mr. S. K. Ratcliffe, started an audience at a recent meeting of the Boston club, by criticizing the action of congress in refusing to allow Berger to take his seat, saying that "England did something of that kind more than a hundred years ago and failed." Again is England held up as the model in all such matters. This was the first instance in which we have known any of these learned propagandists to admit that England ever made a mistake.

In all seriousness, we believe it is time for these gentlemen to subside. They are liable to overdo the thing if they have not done so already by their lecturing the American people on Americanism as England would have it—subservient to her international aims.

Demand the Dialect

"Pa," said a young lady to her father-in-law, "I wish you wouldn't say 'I seen.' I don't know how many times, pa, I've corrected you on that."

"Now, Mamie, you look a-heck," said the old man, shovelling a generous piece of peach pie into his mouth with his knife, "you make yer livin' by good grammar and education, but yer ma and me, we're obliged to take in summer boarders, and, by jingies, they demand the dialect if they pay the rates."

Charlie's Aunt

Maj. Pay was not much of a man for theatres. Music halls or even musical comedies he was always ready to patronize; they came under a different heading, in his opinion. But as for the drama proper, he it either scornful or farcical, it bored him to distraction.

However, little Phyllis—little Phyllis was his niece, by the way—insisted on his taking her to a theatre. So there he was. He had no alternative. He went, and, what is more, during the curtain-raiser fell into a heavy sleep.

When the main piece came on, little Phyllis nudged him and whispered gently, "Charlie's Aunt"—just that and nothing more.

But Maj. Pay, rising hastily to his feet, vigorously seized the hand of an old lady, who happened to be passing in front of him.

"How d'you do, madam?" he exclaimed. "How d'you do? I'm very glad to see you. And how's Charlie?"

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Pawtucketville residents are very enthusiastic over the plans for the creation of a public park along the Merrimack river at the Varnum avenue end of the new Pawtucket bridge and the installation therein of a memorial monument to the world war heroes of that section of the city. I was talking to one of the prominent members of the committee in charge of the memorial and he said that with the proper cooperation on the part of the city officials an excellent park could be laid out that would be a boon not only as a health centre but would also add materially to the aesthetic surroundings of the new bridge. Nature has presented a wonderful opportunity along the bank of the river at that section, he said, and it is up to the city government to make the most of it. He pointed out that little or no money had been given the park department for new work in the past few years and suggested that a new leaf be turned by the municipal council when it comes time to make up 1920 estimates.

which are used by all manner of vehicles, is the attitude taken by several business men with whom I have talked. One of these men said today that he almost ran over two youngsters last week who were coasting down a hill in the Highlands. The boys were disengaging their sleds up the hill and as his auto came down the incline, one had tripped the other and both fell directly into the path of the on-coming car. "I stopped my machine within a few inches of the pair," said my friend, "but you can believe me it gave me quite a scare." Coasting down streets leading into busy thoroughfares is dangerous business, but if any of the coasters get killed, somebody else is likely to be blamed.

COMING BACK TO LIFE

Woman Who Slept For 69 Days Tells Her Story—Real Sensation

Editor's Note.—How does it feel to go to sleep, continue sleeping so long that the doctors give up all hope that you will awaken, be pronounced dead, and then gradually awaken to discover that you've slept over two months and that in spite of all predictions to the contrary you are going to get well and live for the sake of your babies? Mrs. Dora Mintz, New York woman, whose long sleep and unexpected recovery is puzzling physicians of the entire world, has answered these questions for readers of The Sun.

BY MRS. DORA MINTZ

How does it feel to be brought back from the land of the dead to the land of the living?

I can answer that question in four words, "It feels like heaven." But in order that the readers of The Sun may understand my strange affliction, I must go back to the days when I had influenza. That was during the latter part of September. I had recovered enough to be up and doing some of my housework when I began to feel drowsy all of the time.

Became Alarmed

Finally, when I went to sleep leaning against the kitchen door, I became alarmed and had my husband send for the doctor. He had put me to bed and all I can remember about his being there was that I felt glad that he said I needed rest.

On October 8, after the doctors had pronounced my case spinal meningitis, I can now remember wishing that everyone would get away and let me sleep and yet feeling that I wasn't doing right, sleeping so much instead of taking care of my babies. On the next day I went to sleep—to stay asleep for 69 days.

Although I was awakened to a semi-conscious state every day during my 69 days' sleep, I can remember but three things during that time.

The first thing I remember is feeling pain when doctors at the hospital made an examination of my spine and I showed signs of sinking deeper into my sleep. They sent for my husband to tell him I was dying and I can vaguely remember him shaking me and begging me to awake.

Music Came in Dream

The next thing I remember is some sort of a dream that someone was trying to drag my baby away from me, and faintly hearing some music that annoyed me. This, I suppose, was the time that a violinist was called in to try and awaken me with the vibration caused by playing on his violin.

The last thing I remember is the doctor in charge of my case saying, "You wouldn't let me hold your hand, would you, Mrs. Mintz?" Although I was not conscious I can remember thinking it a good joke and said laughingly, "Of course you can."

The doctor then predicted that I would get well and a few days later I really woke up and the time I am awake is growing longer each day. I believe I am the happiest woman in the world to know that my babies are not going to be motherless as they have been during my 69-day sleep.

It's no fun to be a Mrs. Rip Van Winkle.

BEAUTY SECRETS!

Whereas she gets her good looks, her beauty, her skin, her cheeks, known to every one, because it is apparent that it is not due to cosmetics, paint and powder. But the true womanly beauty comes from good health, and this good health is a woman's secret.

Health comes with good physique, machinery and good spirits, an active digestion. A body free from pains and aches comes with a tonic known for over fifty years as the best "temperance" tonic and nerve for woman—namely, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It can be obtained in any drug store in liquid or tablet form, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Cleansing of the intestinal tract is important. Take castor oil or select a vegetable pill. Such a one is composed of May-apple, leaves of aloë, root of jalap, and made into tiny sugar-coated pellets, to be had at every drug store as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

remember him shaking me and begging me to awake.

WITH THE FIREFMEN

A slight fire in the engine of an automobile at the corner of Robert street and Sixth avenue late Saturday afternoon was responsible for a telephone alarm. There was no damage.

At 8.30 o'clock there was an alarm from box 125 for a blaze in the partition of the house numbered 615 Market st., caused by the thawing out of frozen pipes. Three hours later this same blaze re-kindled and the department slight. At 5.45 o'clock yesterday morning a telephone alarm was sent in for a slight automobile fire in Middlesex street.

DISABLED CAR DELAYS TRAFFIC

The breaking of an axle on a Gorham street car at the corner of Central and Jackson streets Saturday evening caused the car to derail and as a result traffic was held up for some time on the Westford street, Middlesex street, South Lowell and Gorham street lines. The disabled car was towed to the corner of Market street and then service was resumed.

NO CENSORSHIP OF LIQUOR BOOKS

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Prohibition Commissioner Kremer and Senator Morris Sheppard, father of the National Prohibition bill, both state the removal from shelves of public libraries of books containing information regarding manufacture of intoxicating liquor, is something they never heard suggested nor does it come within the meaning of the law. Neither will criticize the specific action of any community but both made it evident such drastic steps did not entirely meet their approval. Said Kremer: "Such a suggestion never came from this department," said Sheppard: "The law did not contemplate any such action and the purpose of the bill was to merely carry out its terms." In fact both gentlemen seemed amused and greatly surprised when informed of the action of certain New England libraries.

Street railway officials declared it to be the worst storm they had been called upon to fight for 20 years at least and, despite their best efforts to keep the rails clear and the cars in motion, schedules went into the discard as drifts piled up faster than plows could cut them through. Trolley wires stood the tremendous test well, but even with this in its favor the local division was backed against the wall and had to be content to run its cars as best it could.

The Gale Strikes

The gale did not strike the city in its hurricane rush down the valley until about 9 o'clock. The earlier cars were not bothered in the least. The 7:07 a. m. car, Billerica bound, traveled its round trip and arrived back at the terminal at 8:35, only three minutes late, but from then on trouble began to pile up. A dozen plows went into action, but their crews were forced to see the track behind them cover up as quickly as they passed. The Lexington route went out of commission early in the day and the Woburn end of that Boston line also was tied up as tight as a drum, but later plowed out. City line cars could make but little headway as the forenoon lengthened and shortly after 1 o'clock a Chelmsford Centre car left the rails to make matters worse. But the drifting of the snow in piles two feet high almost in a minute was the biggest factor in the attack of the elements. For instance, two cars might leave the square together to run over the same route and the first would get through, while the second, only a few yards behind, would stick fast in the drifts which followed in the wake of the leader.

For instance, two cars might leave the square together to run over the same route and the first would get through, while the second, only a few yards behind, would stick fast in the drifts which followed in the wake of the leader.

Pedestrians Buffeted
How about pedestrians? That is a story in itself which might easily be gathered together in one huge volume, made up of individual experiences and sensations. That it was distinctly not a day to be out of doors, everyone will agree, but thousands pushed out to the churches and faced a wind of intense bitterness and tremendous strength. Those who walked into it were buffeted and tossed about like a chip on a surging sea, while those who walked with it were lifted along by the strength of unseen hands. It reached a velocity of at least 40 miles an hour at times and literally took the breath from the body and was blinding in its fierceness.

Few there were who attempted to operate motor cars and the streets were practically deserted throughout the greater part of the day.
Heating of houses and buildings was a problem as every chimney was a roaring tunnel, and it is safe to say that the day's consumption of coal for heating purposes will not be equalled this winter. It was a case of shovel, shovel, shovel, and housekeepers watched with concern as the fuel in the bins steadily ebbed out.

Instances of trouble caused by the storm were too numerous to catalogue. A long line of billboards and a hen coop opposite Spalding park in Rogers street blew down and slid down the bank on to the street car tracks and the Bay State had to send a two-horse team to clear off the debris. Slender flagpoles were snapped off like toothpicks, while sturdy elms and maples bent, swayed and groaned like reeds in the face of the gale.

SINGLE LAW FEATURE IN THE O'DELL CASE

CHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Is a woman, with all her refinement, nearer the pure savage than the brute? The defense and the prosecution of the trial of Mr. and Mrs. L. O'Dell for the murder of Ed. Knep, Mrs. O'Dell's former heart, will attempt to prove that female of the species is more than the male.

Shakespeare's famous dictum will be used with Shakespeare's assertion of all the furies inhabiting the world, none equal in ferocity to the ruthless impulses of her savage ancestors.

The defense, it is believed, will insist that Pearl O'Dell's terrible assault on her former sweetheart was a spasm of humanity sweeping her from the restraints of civilization to the ruthless impulses of her savage ancestors.

TWO ARRESTED FOR CARRYING LIQUOR

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—Policemen of the Boylston street station yesterday arrested Walter Billig, 21, 41 Hawthorn street, Somerville, and Walter S. Carter, 45, of 63 St. Germain street, on charges of violation of the United States internal revenue law against carrying liquor without a permit.

Both men professed ignorance of the law. Carter's bundle contained six quarts of a popular brand of rye and a half pint of "split." The shape of the package aroused the suspicions of Sergeant Lutz and the other policeman who figured in the capture.

Billig had on his hip a pint of what one of the policemen characterized as "good stuff." The men were going to Carter's apartment when halted at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and St. Germain street.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE FOR THE DYING BABIES OF ITALY?

While there is great suffering among the nations of Europe, no one of our allies has felt the aftermath of the world's war more intensely than Italy. And, strangely enough, no nation has sent forth distress signals with greater reluctance than that nation. Exuberant in her arts and sciences, she has become a recluse in her sorrow. For Italy's babies are dying! Not by the hundreds, but by thousands upon thousands! Why? Because there is no milk in all of Italy. The cattle are dead. They were slaughtered, half of them, to feed the men who waded knee deep in blood so that the Austrians might never attain the Mediterranean. The other half of the cattle and goat supply was suddenly attacked by the pestilence known as the mouth and foot disease. So Italy is actually without milk.

What can a people do without its child-life? What future is left for it? What would happen to America in a similar crisis? We must aid Italy, who now, like a fallen but victorious soldier, lies bleeding, too sick to arise and aid himself. And there is one positive way of helping. It is through an organization known as the American Free Milk and Relief for Italy, Inc., established in New York city. An after-the-war aid, it is composed of earnest workers who give both their time and money in order to send milk and medicine to the little sufferers and their mothers. Every Italian ship sailing from the United States carries with it as many cases of dried milk as it is possible to send. The Italian government in sincere gratitude aids as much as possible, making no transportation or duty charges. In Italy the milk is received by the executive committee of this organization which has the same franking privileges as the Italian Red Cross, and it is shipped to as many free milk dispensaries as may be supplied by the quantity of the shipment. Every sufferer for milk, every father and mother in Italy knows where the nearest milk dispensary is. It is up to the Americans to aid their victorious ally by giving, if only a mite, to help save the babies of Italy; to keep open the free milk dispensaries, so that a reluctant, yet disconsolate nation may find hope in the returning health of its babies.

TO URGE EX-KAISER TO SURRENDER

BRUSSELS, Jan. 13. (Havas.)—Deep emotion has been caused in Holland by the allied demand for the extradition of former Emperor William of Germany, according to a despatch from The Hague. Belief is expressed at the Dutch capital, it is said, that pressing measures will be taken with a view to inducing him to voluntarily place himself at the disposal of the allies.

GUEST ADMIRAL JELICOFF, PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Saturday, Jan. 17.—Admiral Viscount Jellicoff, former first sea lord of the British admiralty, accompanied by Sir Robert Borden of Canada, arrived here today on board the battleship New Zealand. They were given an enthusiastic reception.

ITALY, FRANCE AND SWEDEN PLAN TO OPEN SOUTH AMERICAN MARKETS

VALPARAISO.—Italy, France and Sweden have taken steps to open South American markets by establishing steamship lines to Chilean ports. One Italian steamship company, composed of the Transatlantica Italiana and the Nacional de Navegacion, already has sent two steamers to Chile by the Panama route. It is announced that the company intends to add ten more steamers to the line, making a total of six passenger and six freight vessels which will voyage alternately by the Straits of Magellan and the Panama canal.
The government of Chile has agreed to subsidize these ships by payment of 700 pounds for each cargo shipped and 300 pounds for each passenger and freight vessel.
More recently the Italian Navigation company has sent to Chile its steamer La Veloce. The Compagnie Generale Transatlantique announces that direct communication will be established between Havre and Valparaiso by way of Panama by the use of the steamer San Luis. The Swedish company has resumed service to Chile and there is talk of a Dutch line of steamers from Java by the way of Australia.
As a result of these activities, freights have begun to decline. This has stimulated the commerce of all west coast and especially the exportation of nitrate and the agricultural products of Chile.

TEST AND ENJOIN ENFORCEMENT

Validity of Federal Prohibition Amendment To Be Determined

Rhode Island Granted Permission To Institute Original Proceedings

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Validity of the federal prohibition constitutional amendment is to be determined by the supreme court, which today granted the state of Rhode Island permission to institute original proceedings to test it and enjoin its enforcement in that state.

The permission was granted by Chief Justice White without comment or without fixing any time for hearing arguments in the case.

Motion to bring the suit were filed by Attorney General Rice of Rhode Island in response to a resolution adopted by the state legislature authorizing him to take steps to test the validity of not only the amendment but also of the enforcement act.

In briefs filed in support of the motion, Rhode Island authorities questioned the validity of the ratification of the amendment and alleged that the amendment was an interference with the state police powers and a violation of the fifth constitutional amendment. They also alleged that the amendment was "unconstitutional and void."

Rhode Island was one of the states that refused to ratify the amendment. After the granting of the motion, Solicitor General King announced that he would prepare at once, and file with the court a motion asking for the dismissal of the case for lack of jurisdiction. Under the court's rules, this motion can be argued so expeditiously that the entire proceedings by passing upon the merits of the case in deciding this motion.

Heard on Its Merits
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 12.—"I am glad the country is going to have this question heard on its merits."

This was the comment of Attorney General Herbert A. Rice this afternoon when he was told that the United States supreme court had granted Rhode Island permission to institute original proceedings to test the constitutionality of the 18th amendment. Mr. Rice said that he thought the next step taken by the court would be to grant the motion and then the government might make the next move. This, he said, would probably be to ask for the dismissal of the case.

21 REPUBLICS REPRESENTED

Leading Financiers of Western Hemisphere at Pan-American Conference

Pres. Wilson Sends Message of Greeting—Sec. Lansing and Sec. Glass Speakers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Marked by the presence of the leading financiers and business men of the 21 republics of the western hemisphere, the second Pan-American financial conference opened here today for the consideration of international problems arising from the return of peace.

President Wilson from his sick room sent a message of greeting to the ministers of finance and other prominent visitors, declaring that Pan-America sought no selfish purpose in assisting world reconstruction and would regard it as a privilege to fulfill the obligations imposed by the great advantages enjoyed by the people of these republics. Secretary Lansing brought out the same idea in addressing the delegates, when he said the Americas accepted the burdens thrust upon the new world by the war and would press forward confidently to the better days of the future.

Welcoming the visitors to the building of the Pan-American union where the general sessions are being held in the great hall of the Americas, symbolizing the peaceful friendship between the republics constituting the union, John Barrett, director general, spoke of the union's moral influence in preserving peace and building up commerce.

Secretary Glass, president general of the conference presided at the opening session which was followed by an informal luncheon given by the federal reserve board and the United States section of the international high commission. This afternoon the group committees from each country met to organize and to meet the financiers and business men of this country, appointed to co-operate with them.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DINNER TONIGHT

Reservations covering every available chair are at hand for the chamber of commerce dinner to be held this evening at 6:30 o'clock in Memorial hall. After a great deal of skillful planning the banquet tables have been so arranged as to accommodate 400 people and this morning's mail took the reservations to that figure. Therefore, there will be no tickets for sale at the door as it will be a physical impossibility to care for a large number.

With an attendance of 400, the dinner will be the largest the American City Bureau has ever held during a campaign in cities of less than 150,000 population and like the smoker of a week ago, it will be an epochal event in the civic life of the community.

The principal reason for the big response to invitations sent out is the result of an awakening of "dormant public and civic spirit. Enthusiasm in the campaign has risen by leaps and bounds during the past three weeks and the dinner tonight marks the end of the period of education, which has blazed the trail for the intensive membership drive to follow.

Three men of great prominence and ability will address the men and women at the close of the banquet. They are Dr. Frank Crane, a journalist and editorial writer of prominence; Glenn Frank of the Century Publishing Co. and Clarence S. Andrews of Chattanooga, Tenn., widely known throughout the south as a manufacturer and banker.

Other speakers will be Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Otto Hockmeyer and Arthur D. Prince. Community singing will be led by Louis Carpenter and the Honey Boy quartet will dispense familiar tunes.

MANY CARS IN RICH DISPLAY

Lowell Automobile Show at Casino, Opens Its Doors to Public Gaze

Complete Exhibit of Motors To Meet Every Whim and Need

With more than a score of the best known makes of cars on display the annual Lowell automobile show at the Casino in Thorndike street opened its doors to the public today. Although the exhibit was informally inspected during the afternoon the real opening was not scheduled until this evening, when Mayor Perry D. Thompson will officially give it his benediction on behalf of the city.

Far more comprehensive in scope than any of its predecessors, this year's show well typifies a new era of prosperity in the automobile industry. The cars on display should adequately meet every turn of whim, fancy and desire and the show should create a stimulus which will carry the city through a banner year in automobile usage.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon practically every car was in its proper place, with corps of glib salesmen and representatives on hand to cordially greet the prospects and hundreds of interested spectators who strolled through the building, stopping here and there as a rakish model or a sturdy commercial design took their fancy.

Every car was polished and groomed to the nth degree and shone as splendid examples of the makes they represented. There were intimate road-

Eleanor Petrie's Death Not the Result of Arsenic Poisoning

That the death of 14-months-old Eleanor Petrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Petrie of 43 Crescent street was not caused from arsenic contained in cookies which the child had eaten, is the report made today to Dist. Atty. Nathan E. Tufts by Prof. William E. Whitney of the Harvard medical school, who has been conducting an analysis of the cookies, thought to have caused her death and the digestive organs of the child. Dist. Atty. Tufts stated that no further investigation of the child's death will be made by his office.

The Petrie child was taken violently ill on Jan. 8 after eating a molasses cookie, and died two days later. Two other children, Cecil and Edeline also were taken ill after eating the cookies, which were purchased in a Lowell bakery, but recovered. Medical Examiner T. B. Smith performed an autopsy on the child's body, and found what he believed to be traces of arsenic in the digestive organs. The case was given to the district attorney's office and samples of the cookies were taken to the Harvard medical school for analysis. The cause of the child's death now remains as much a mystery as ever.

TO INVESTIGATE SIMS' CHARGES

If Senate Inquiry Fails To Satisfy People, Daniels Will Order Naval Board Probe

Says "No Organization in History Ever Did a Better Job Than U. S. Navy"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Unless the senate investigation of Rear Admiral Sims' charges of failure of the navy department to co-operate fully with the allies during the war is made to the entire satisfaction of the American people, an inquiry will be made by a naval board, Secretary Daniels announced today. He added that "no organization in the history of the world ever did a better job than the American navy."

While refusing to discuss Admiral Sims' letter of criticism of the department, Mr. Daniels indicated the admiral frequently clashed with his department through his insistence that more destroyers be withdrawn from the troop convoys to augment the anti-submarine forces in European waters.

"The paramount duty of the American navy," Mr. Daniels declared, "was to protect the passage of American troops to Europe and the safeguarding of merchant shipping, vital as that was recognized to be necessarily was secondary."

Secretary Daniels emphasized that, contrary to a popular impression, Admiral Sims throughout the war, was subordinate to Admiral Mayo, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet. He indicated that on the question of the distribution of destroyer strength as well as on other questions, Admiral Sims was overruled by Admiral Mayo as well as the department.

"Every naval order, every document bearing on the navy's war activities," Mr. Daniels continued, "is open to the light of day, and the more thoroughly the entire record is laid before the people of this country, the greater the pride they can have in the achievements of their navy. The country will be entirely reassured when matters are brought to a showdown."

Secretary Daniels said that in the first summer of the war Admiral Sims was given the title of commander of the United States naval forces in Europe.

ONE BID OFFERED IS $1,750,000

D. H. Walker Only Contractor To Submit Estimate to Commission

Members Take no Action, But Plan For Executive Session Tonight

Lowell's new high school will cost $1,750,000 instead of the round million dollars that was originally appropriated for the project, if the high school building commission sees fit to accept the one bid that was entered when the commission met this morning at city hall to open bids publicly. The lone bid was received from Daniel H. Walker, who agreed to do the entire work of erecting and furnishing the building for the lump sum before mentioned.

The commission took no action on the matter but voted to go into executive session this evening at 8 o'clock. A communication from Frederick E. Meloy stated that he would be willing

WILL RIGIDLY ENFORCE DRY MEASURE

Lowell police will co-operate with federal authorities in enforcing the prohibition amendment throughout the highways and byways of the Spindle City. So said Chief Welch today, in discussing the era of thirst which has settled down over the nation. All avenues for possible sales will face a rigid investigation, he declared, and if any residents of the city slip from the water wagon it will not be the fault of the police.

Already the police have discovered the existence of two "home distilleries," the chief said, and the information has been communicated to the federal authorities, who will take speedy action in the matter. Federal action also is momentarily expected in connection with the suppression of the sale of Jamaica ginger and other standard products, including even hair oil, which contain a sufficient amount of alcohol to make them popular with members of the anti-temperance fraternity.

All liquor advertising signs must be removed from the former haunts of the late John Barleycorn, said the chief, and this should be done immediately in order to comply with the law. Several former thirst parlors have already taken down their placards, but others have not yet done so.

Verily, it appears that 1920 is to be an exceedingly dry year in Lowell.

Messrs. Van Cantwell, Murphy and Glibner are the members of this noted quartet which because of the physical attributes of its members, is listed in the half-ton class. The four men are all big, chunky, and from all accounts, it took a considerable period of time to reach members who should not only be good singers but also nearly alike in avocations. They sing the very latest songs and can harmonize in serious mood when they choose to do so. This is only one of the big acts for the week.

IRISH REPUBLIC BOND CAMPAIGN

Further plans for the drive for the sale of bonds of the Irish republic in this city beginning Feb. 15 were outlined at a special meeting got the Friends of Irish Freedom held last evening in Hibernian hall. The advisory committee which had been appointed at a previous meeting announced it had perfected its organization and elected the following officers: Stephen Flynn, chairman; Winfred C. MacBrayne, secretary; Patrick O'Hearn, treasurer. Chairman Flynn spoke of the possibilities of the drive in this city and Michael J. Sharkey, a member of the committee, told of the method by which the city would be "covered" in the drive. The chairman and treasurer of the committee conferred with representatives of the Irish republic in Boston today and more definite plans for the local campaign will be outlined later.

President Patrick J. Maloney was in the chair at last evening's meeting and announced a whisky party to be held in K. of C. hall the first week of February to secure funds for the expenses of the bond drive. Other speakers included James O'Sullivan, John F. Sheehan and Joseph P. Quinn.

LEAGUE HOUSED NEAR AMERICAN EMBASSY

PARIS, Jan. 18.—The League of Nations is housed not far from the American embassy, in Rue Paquet, where a considerable staff has been at work since the league entered into being officially three days ago. Its work, however, is still confined to organization, as the only act of the league council at its first meeting was to appoint members of the Sarre valley boundary commission, which is not under the league's control.

While the council appointed three members of the commission, it is understood that by a strict interpretation of the Versailles treaty the commission will be under the direct supervision of the "Paquet" which is an abbreviation used by the league's staff to designate "principal allied and associated powers."

It is expected the league will take jurisdiction over the Sarre region only when an administrative mission has been organized. In the meantime the league staff will return to London, leaving probably on Wednesday. The quarters in Rue Paquet will be retained, however, as the permanent home of the league council when it meets here.

MUSICAL REVUE BY THE M.T.I.

The Mathews have long been famous for their musical affairs, but never have they presented a show to equal their 1920 Musical Revue, which is scheduled for next Thursday night in the Associated Hall. Not only is the music more tuneful, the young ladies of the chorus prettier and the talent far superior in every respect, but the show as a whole is so far above the average as to defy comparison.

The comedians include George "Babe" Rogers, the inimitable "Gene" Mullin, whose dry humor was one of the hits of the 1919 show; "Malt" Ryan, a novice, who will quickly prove his right to equal consideration with all others in this line; Miss Lorelei Flinnery, recognized as one of the best local entertainers; Miss Rosetta Lavery, who gives promise of great popularity in the near future, and Miss Catherine Galtrey, another young singer, who is certain to meet with success from the start. Of the soloists, Miss Mary McCarthy's offering will be a source of delight to all who attend; Miss Mary McPartland is possessed of an extremely great voice, which will render her selection one of the best on the program; Martin Nabuco is such an old favorite that nothing need be said of his ability; Edward Donahue has become a top-notch among local amateurs and always adds to his popularity; Andrew Kellner will win new laurels in a specialty well designed to display his talent; William Mahoney is a singer, who sings all songs well, and has a splendid number in this production; and J. Warren Kane always scores a success with Mathew audiences and is in extra fine shape to repeat. "Billy" Carr's winning solo will go by without a doubt. Miss Margaret Boyette is an exceptionally good dancer and will provide a high class specialty. "Private Billy" Richards, the Lowell boy who has been winning success as a professional dancer since his discharge from the army, will do some clock dancing that should make a big hit.

Next, Joseph Kelly, one of Lowell's most prominent baritone soloists, will give a splendid number, while Alex. Drabin will be seen in a dancing specialty. The show is under the direction of Bernard Rourke, who had charge of last year's show. The accompanist is William Paul McCarthy, the well known pianist, and John W. Sharkey will act as introducer. After the show there will be general dancing until 1 o'clock for which music will be furnished by Clarke's Union Jazz orchestra. This orchestra has met with great success on the road since its organization, and local dancers will be interested in comparing its work with that of other jazz bands which have been heard in Lowell. Frank Clark, arranger and leader of this orchestra, has promised to give the Mathews nothing but the latest and best on this occasion.

Before Women's League Continued

Armed with a wealth of facts and figures concerning the migration of various races to this country from pre-Revolutionary times, Mr. McSweeney showed just what part the people of each race formed in the total population of the country and gave interesting little sidelights on the racial characteristics, virtues and faults of each, garnered from his years of experience and travel among alien races.

In the concluding portion of his address, which he devoted to constructive suggestions relative to the assimilation of aliens he said that the schools must be looked to to bear a big share of the burden. The present school system of Massachusetts, he asserted, must be revised to meet present industrial and economic conditions.

The field of charity also offered opportunities for the proper assimilation of the alien, the speaker believed, providing that it was not the organized sort of charity that "gives alms but not love."

Preluding his address proper on the topic, "Some Aspects of Americanization," was a brief sketch of the Irish situation of the present day and the speaker took this occasion to pay a tribute to the women of Metropolitan Boston for the active part they took in a recent drive for funds for the Irish cause while the business men of that city sat back unwilling to help.

Miss Alice T. Lee, president of the league, was in the chair and despite the rigor of the weather there was a large attendance of members. Miss Lee called the meeting to order shortly after 3 o'clock and made mention of the death of two members of the league since the last meeting—Mrs. Brown and Miss Burns. Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director, led those present in a prayer for the deceased members.

The president then told of a gift of a statue of the Blessed Virgin for the league office in Central street by John M. Plinard. This will be blessed by the spiritual director in the near future and members of the league were invited to visit it.

Among the activities planned for the coming month are a round table talk by Miss Rose Geary, under the auspices of the civics class next Thursday at 4.15 at the league rooms in Central street, which will be open to all members of the league; a lecture by John P. Farley on "Citizenship—its Fundamentals and Essentials," in Memorial hall Feb. 6 at 8 p. m., open to all women of the city; the formation of classes in cooking, millinery and home nursing during the present week under the direction of Miss Grace Delany, chairman; rehearsals of the league orchestra every Monday evening at 7.45, and a meeting of the banjo, mandolin and guitar club Wednesday evening at 7.30 under the direction of J. A. Handley, who has kindly consented to direct the organization. There are still a few vacancies in this class, the president announced, and applications for membership should be sent to Mrs. John T. Donahue, 536 Bedford street, or to the president.

Miss Lee then turned the meeting over to the family of Mrs. Donahue who entertained with a unique and exceptionally brilliant musical program. Mrs. Donahue was at the piano, her daughter, Miss Grace Donahue, at the harp, and her sons, John, Charles and Paul, playing the violin and cello. Their program included "The Angel's Serenade," selections from "The Bohemian Girl" and the "Triumphal March" from Verdi's "Aida." Later Miss Donahue gave an exquisite vocal solo, accompanying herself on the harp. The talented family was roundly applauded for its efforts and Miss Donahue's skilled control of the harp was especially admirable.

Mr. McSweeney's address. The president then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Edward P. McSweeney.

In opening, Mr. McSweeney referred to English propaganda which he said had been going on in this country from the beginning of the war up to the present moment at a rate unequalled in history. He said that a short time ago a movement was started by the Irish race in this country to raise a fund to offset this propaganda and this movement was given the hearty and sympathetic approval of Cardinal O'Connell in a speech delivered at Madison Square Garden in New York a year ago last December and the support of Cardinal Gibbons a short time later. Despite this fact, the people of Irish blood in Massachusetts were behind every other state in the country in backing this fund. Mr. McSweeney himself was a member of the committee appointed to conduct the campaign in this state and serving with him on that committee was James O'Sullivan of this city.

"When we went to the business men of Irish blood in Boston and told them what we wanted," the speaker continued, "we met with little or no response owing to the fact that they believed some of our people had succeeded in obtaining prominent political offices. We told them of the needs of Ireland and asked them if they were not proud of its past history, of the part men of Irish race had played in the history of the United States. But the business men of Boston gave us practically no support."

"Suddenly a member of the committee suggested that we ask the women of Boston to help us. We called together groups of women of Irish blood and told them what we wanted. From that day we didn't need the help of anybody else. The women of Metropolitan Boston put their shoulder to the wheel and very soon Massachusetts was up among the leaders."

"The present moment is the most fateful time in the lives of people of the Irish racial group. This is the only race that has been left in servitude by the Paris conference. Unless the Irish come to realize their danger and to assert themselves now, they will have missed a splendid opportunity."

"But I wanted to bring out these facts to show under what circumstances women are coming into their political heritage. If women can be interested in such things as these, we can come out all right."

Some Aspects of Americanization. Mr. McSweeney then came to his main topic, "Some Aspects of Americanization." He said that the political and economic disturbance which we are now going through is but similar to those which we have experienced after every war.

"The fabric of human relation has been torn in twain," he declared; "the times are so tragic that any solution is welcomed. Therefore, Americanization has caught the popular fancy and the alien has become the scapegoat."

"There are 21 distinct Americanization organizations in or around Boston, but among them there is no unity of purpose. The real we have among us are the products of our national neglect. Every red who is unjustly arrested for advocating in an extreme form the internationalism which those in high places in our government are practicing is a martyr to his cause. Most of the red raving is foolish; some of it is wicked and should be punished. We have seen our alien wild oats for 25 years and now we must be ready to accept the headache and procure a remedy."

"There has been no appeal to racial pride in our Americanization program. The alien is assumed to be inferior and on this assumption we cannot expect co-operation from him. Everything wrong in the country is attributed to the alien and everything good to the Anglo-Saxon."

"The speaker then undertook to review the various alien immigrations into this country from pre-revolutionary times. The largest single race group to come here before the revolution, he said, came from the British Isles and therefore, "it is to be assumed that this country is largely English." He pointed out that during one year of this period 10,000 children were smuggled from the streets of London to service on Virginia tobacco plantations. Even felons were transported here from England, he asserted, and Virginia was primarily a felon colony. New England escaped the felon stream because it had no plantations.

"Hordes of deported Irish were sent here by Cromwell," Mr. McSweeney continued. "Thousands of them were gathered, their Irish names taken from them and they were dubbed 'Smith,' 'White,' 'Black,' 'Green,' or the names of trades, such as 'Baker,' or 'Carpenter.' It is small wonder that it is difficult for some people to trace their lineage."

"Irvin Cobb, the famous writer, set out to trace his ancestry recently and

Casco, Wis.—"After the birth of each of my children I had displacement and was so weak I couldn't do anything. I found a book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I thought I would try it, and after taking it I soon felt better. That was fifteen years ago and I have felt well ever since except that I had a slight attack of the trouble some time ago and took some more of your Compound and was soon all right again. I always recommend your medicine and you may publish my testimonial for the benefit of other women."—Mrs. JULES BERO, Jr., R. 1, Box 99, Casco, Wis.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Mrs. Bero's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

after much investigation found that he was descended from an Irishman named O'Connor and that "Cobb" was a Danish corruption of the name. The whole folklore of our south can be traced to Ireland, the buck and wing dance never saw Africa but is merely an interpretation of the Irish jig; Lincoln and Jefferson, two of the leaders of the Civil war, were of half Irish blood; Woodrow Wilson is half two generations away from Irish blood on both sides and his family did not begin to live in this country until 1811."

The speaker then reviewed the coming of other races to this country, the proportion of our national population which each race now forms and the various characteristics of each. He said that one of the factors that must be considered in any Americanization program is the exploiting of aliens by steamship companies which give the alien a prepaid ticket and then keep him in servitude until he works out his passage. He said that our labor situation in this country will soon be vitally affected by the emigration of a million and a half aliens who are planning to visit their homeland as soon as there are ships available to take them.

In conclusion, Mr. McSweeney pointed out some remedies for the problem of assimilating the alien. The first he said, was the school. The Massachusetts public school system, he declared, was never designed to train people for practical life, but rather for college. Up to 1920, he said, public school education was confined to those who were able to pay for it. He claimed that the lack of practical education in the schools was an invitation to revolution. He felt that the Massachusetts system needed revision to meet alien and industrial needs.

Such institutions as the Rockefeller and Carnegie foundations he felt to be a boon to science but "obvious dangers to the democracy of our country because they seek to place the education of our children in the hands of a few men."

The field of charity also afforded excellent opportunities for real Americanization work, Mr. McSweeney said. If we accept the alien as a brother and not have him come under the care of the "organized charity worker who gives alms but not love."

"We can't meet the alien on equal terms," he concluded, "until we meet and act together and not see him merely as a rival for our job. My formula for Americanization is very simple—education, justice and kindness."

Following Mr. McSweeney's address Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director, spoke in a congratulatory vein and complimented the members of the league on the success of the afternoon's meeting. The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn, Miss Marion Ryan leading and accompanying on the piano.

THRIFT WEEK AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Thrift week was inaugurated at the State Normal school this morning when Mr. C. T. C. Whitcomb, New England agent for the war loan savings division of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston, spoke to the students on the growth of the thrift movement throughout the country and its adaptability to school work. He discussed the history of the movement during the war and since its close and showed how important it had become in teaching in inculcating a spirit of thrift in pupils.

This lecture was a part of a well defined program which will continue at the school throughout the present week. Programs will be presented.

NOVEL CONTEST
Chance To Win Tire at Chalifoux Co. Store
The J. L. Chalifoux Co., inaugurated an exceptionally novel contest for the public of Lowell this noon when at its request Mayor Perry D. Thompson set in motion the wheel of an automobile in the Merrimack street window of the company and sealed the speedometer which registers the mileage of the wheel.

This wheel will be kept in motion continually from 12 o'clock this noon until 9 o'clock next Saturday evening. To the automobile owner who guesses nearest the number of miles that the wheel will have traveled during that period, a Hood tire will be given. The contest is open to automobile owners only. All guesses are to be submitted on special blanks which may be secured at the Information desk on the street floor of the Chalifoux store.

The Chalifoux Co. has acquired the local agency for the Liberty Motor car and will soon open a first class garage and automobile salesroom at Shattuck and Market streets on the site of the old Playhouse.

Pending the opening of this building the company is staging what might be termed an advance showing of the car on its street floor in Merrimack street all this week, in conjunction with the big automobile show at the Casino. A representative of the Liberty Co. will be present at all times to explain the features of the machine.

The serum arrived too late to save the life of Dominick Delbene, the girl's uncle, who died Saturday night, two hours after it had been injected into his arm. Angelo Delbene, another uncle, died before the serum arrived.

In addition to $1 per day for food, deckhands and cooks seek $115 a month and firemen $125.

The wage scale sought is an increase of $35 a month. The strikers claim they now have to work 11 hours a day and have to report on boats an hour before they start work.

Clemenceau's Cabinet Resigns

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The cabinet of Premier Clemenceau resigned yesterday. President Poincaré last night asked Alexander Millerand, governor of Alsace to form a new cabinet.

The outgoing ministry has been in office since Nov. 18, 1917.

M. Millerand was first called to the Elysee palace at 4:30 p. m. He then conferred with President-elect Deschanel. M. Clemenceau and Leon Bourgeois, president of the national assembly. He returned to the Elysee palace at 7 o'clock at which time M. Poincaré formally requested him to form a cabinet to succeed that of M. Clemenceau. He said President Poincaré had asked him to consult with M. Deschanel before undertaking the task.

M. Millerand said last night that he had a long conversation with M. Deschanel, who gave him his best wishes for success.

President Poincaré, after receiving Premier Clemenceau and all the ministers and sub-secretaries and receiving their resignations yesterday morning, expressed the gratitude of France for the premiers' services and his personal appreciation of their excellent relations.

President Poincaré visited M. Deschanel at the Bourbon palace at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to discuss the situation and decide who should be entrusted with the task of forming a cabinet. He then received M. Bourgeois at the Elysee palace to consult with him regarding the choice of a premier.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT WANTS MACHINES

When the health department makes up its estimates for 1920 one of the items which will be included will be an expenditure for the purchase of several automobiles for the department, according to Agent Francis J. O'Hare. Mr. O'Hare believes that the inspector of contagious diseases as well as himself should have a machine. At the present time there is a horse used by the department but owing to the natural growth of the work of the department this is proving most unsatisfactory at the present time.

Mr. O'Hare points out that if he had a machine he would be able to take immediate action on a number of cases that come to his attention, whereas at the present time there is often a lapse of several hours before the case can be taken care of. It is conceivable that in some instances the delay might mean the difference between life and death.

"When there is a case of serious illness telephoned into the office here," said Mr. O'Hare today, "it often happens that the matter must be given immediate attention. With but a single horse for this work it means that there is unavoidably a delay, whereas, if I had a machine I could go out at once and if the victim needed to be sent to a hospital immediately I would know of the fact within a short time after first getting the call. At the present time there is often a delay of several hours. The same holds true of the inspector of contagious diseases, who could cover much more ground if he had a machine. I asked for machines last year but the council did not see fit to grant the request. However, the request will be made again this year."

Dr. Charles E. Simpson, state health officer, believes that the agent should have a machine if he is to do his most effective work.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS WILL SURELY WANT TO ENTER THE GUESSING CONTEST

At 12 o'clock this noon Mayor Perry D. Thompson turned on the juice which started an automobile wheel to revolve. This wheel is now revolving in our Merrimack Street Window, next to Page's, and will continue to revolve steadily until Saturday evening at 9 o'clock when the contest will close. To the automobile owner who guesses nearest to the number of miles that the wheel has traveled during the period (Monday noon until Saturday at nine p. m.) a Hood Tire will be given. Contest is open to automobile owners only. All "Guesses" are to be submitted on the special blanks which may be secured at the Information Desk Street Floor. Guess how many miles the wheel has traveled from Monday at 12 o'clock until Saturday at 9 p. m. and we will give the lucky guesser absolutely free a Hood Tire—(cord if manufactured in the size used by the winner).

BIRD NOT CANDIDATE

Won't Run on G.O.P. Slate For "Personal Reasons"—Advice to Republicans

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Charles Sumner Bird will not be a candidate for delegate-at-large to the republican national convention, which will be held in Chicago next June. In a statement given out last night Mr. Bird says that for personal reasons he will not run, and that, in addition, he wants to give the younger men a chance to go to the convention.

He seizes the opportunity also to give a little advice to the republicans. He tells them that no republican nominated by "a back door bargain or by a gumshoe convention" can be elected president, and that the independent voters, who will control the coming election, "will not support any candidate who is hitched to the chariot of the reactionary interests, or, in fact, any candidate who has not been in hearty sympathy with the virile ideals and sturdy Americanism of the late Theodore Roosevelt."

GETTING AFTER THE AUTOMOBILE THIEVES

Assistant District Attorney George Stanley Harvey, who was delegated by District Attorney Tufts to handle the investigation of the methods of the various auto thieves, has made a report to Judge O'Connell of the superior court, who is presiding at the present session of the superior criminal court at East Cambridge.

As the result of the work done under the direction of Mr. Harvey, some 200 indictments have been returned by the grand jury. These indictments are against 135 persons, of whom 105 have been arrested. The police are seeking for 29 others. Fines amounting to $1800 have been imposed and expenses totaling $524 have been paid. Restitution to the extent of $2900 has been made by various defendants. The police have recovered 75 cars, the average value of which is $500 or a total of $37,500.

A large number of defendants have been brought into court and punishment ranging from state's prison sentences to heavy fines has been inflicted.

LABOR TO FIGHT ANTI-SEDITION BILLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Formal announcement that the American Federation of Labor would oppose "with whatever power it may possess" the enactment of the anti-sedition bills now pending in congress, was made yesterday in a statement issued by Samuel Gompers, president of the federation.

The attack of organized labor, its chief aim indicated, would be directed impartially against the Sterling bill, recently passed by the senate, and against the Graham measure, based on suggestions of Atty. Gen. Palmer and awaiting action by the house rules committee for a special rule to expedite consideration.

Referring to the two measures as one bill, President Gompers declared its enactment "would violate the constitution and rob the whole American people of their most cherished and basic guarantee of free government."

"If the American people and in fact a majority of the members of congress," Mr. Gompers declared, "were awake to the dangers concealed in this bill, a storm of indignation would swamp the nation."

"It has been widely advertised that this measure protects free speech fully, but prevents advocacy of forcible revolution, Bolshevism and anarchy. It strikes a deadly blow at legitimate organizations of labor or any other progressive movement for the betterment of the masses, which may be opposed by the advocates of privilege and reaction."

"We yield to no man, in public office or out, in our loyalty to the constitutions of this republic; no self-respecting man has questioned or dare question that loyalty. We are for evolution, not revolution; for ballots, not bullets; for a majority rule, not less dictatorship of Bolshevism or plutocracy of the profiteer."

"We oppose this bill because every legitimate purpose for which it is framed already is covered by existing law. Its illegitimate features, which compose two-thirds of the draft, are utterly autocratic, imperialistic and un-American."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AS A RELIGION

Rev. Herbert E. Benton in preaching a civic sermon at the Grace Universalist church yesterday, declared that the new chamber of commerce will serve the city as a sort of religion and will be instrumental in placing co-operation above denominationalism, while taking the form of a social center and binder. He preached from the thought, "Where There is No Vision, the People Perish," and characterized the chamber of commerce expansion plan as a broad, democratic organization dependent upon service and unselfishness, embracing the welfare of the entire community, which in turn will directly reflect upon the weal of the nation.

"What do you want Lowell to be in 1926?" he asked. "Begin now and make your plans. The chief asset of a city is not found in highly developed water power; it is not found in great factories, nor in clever business men, but rather in intelligent and high-minded citizens. The chamber of commerce is calling on you to be good citizens. Anyone with a civic conscience knows the needs of his city. We are being called upon to think. In order for anyone to be successful

he must think out what he wants and then go after it. We must have a goal and work to attain it. The individual and the city together must work for that success, or it will never come. No man is a decent friend unless he sees his friends' needs and tries to help them."

"There will be harmony in the new chamber of commerce, whereas today they have no harmony. This is true in the churches as well. Instead of going in the right direction we are going in the wrong path, and it is because we do not co-operate. The question of this chamber of commerce is most timely. There is no line of demarcation between service and religion, and I do not believe that any religious effort lends itself to individual benefit, but rather to the benefit of the whole."

GREAT ARSENAL TURNS TO PEACEFUL PURSUITS

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Even the great Woolwich arsenal has turned from the manufacture of war material to the peaceful pursuits of trade. Ten thousand bullet cases have been manufactured in the great building which during the war sent out vast quantities of munitions for use against the Germans.

The nickel purchased to manufacture bullets is being used in the arsenal to make five-cent pieces for British Honduras currency. There is a world shortage of locomotives and railway cars.

MOTHERS, DO THIS—

When the Children Cough, Rub Musterole on Throats and Chests

No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt, sure relief. It does not blister. As first aid and a certain remedy, Musterole is excellent. Thousands of mothers know it. You should keep a jar in the house, ready for instant use. It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

To meet this it has been decided to manufacture these articles in the arsenal and work already is underway there on orders for 2500 cars, 100 locomotives and for repair work on 700 cars.

This serves a double purpose. Thirty thousand persons now are employed in the arsenal where 110,000 were at work in wartime. Thousands of these men are skilled munition workers. By keeping these busy making locomotives and other peaceful products, the government not only gives them work but retains their services. In event of another war they could return immediately to the munition works in which they are skilled.

One of the side-line products of the arsenal since the armistice has been the striking of 6,000,000 war medals.

TURKS MAKE PROTEST

Oppose Plan To Dismember Empire and Internationalize Constantinople

CONSTANTINOPLE, Wednesday, Jan. 14.—Protests against the reported intention of the peace conference to dismember the Turkish empire and to internationalize this city were voiced at a great mass meeting held here today. Great enthusiasm was aroused by orators, who discoursed on Turkey's "inalienable rights" to Constantinople.

Resolutions were adopted declaring Constantinople should be maintained as the capital of Turkey and the seat of the government; demanding the evacuation of Smyrna and adjacent regions by the Greeks, asking for an immediate conclusion of peace; asserting the integral sovereignty of the Turkish nation should be maintained over territories in which the majority of the inhabitants are Turks, and giving assurance that the rights and interests of Christian or Turkish minorities would be safeguarded.

Calm reigns in this city, order being maintained by Turkish and allied police.

CONCERT WAS ENJOYED

There was a large audience at the concert given last evening in St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street, the affair having been organized by the young men of South Lowell for the benefit of St. Marie's church. The program was of the most enjoyable and was highly appreciated. Those who took part were Commissioner James E. Donnelly, L. N. Guilmault, Misses Dion, Eugene Guilmault, Sylvio and Elias Nadeau, Martial St. George and others.

FORM LEAGUES TO TEACH COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A description of the accomplishment of the international high commission toward promoting trade relations among the countries of the Americas was given today by John Bassett Moore, vice chairman of the commission, which was created by the first Pan-American financial conference held in Washington in 1915.

"Substantial ameliorations of methods of customs administration have been secured in various quarters," said Mr. Moore. "Regulations permitting the simultaneous loading and unloading of cargoes, and the advance preparation of cargoes, have been brought about in numerous countries."

"Progress has been made with the adoption of a uniform statistical classification of merchandise. Six countries have already taken favorable action, and two more are understood to be on the point of doing so."

"Every effort has been made to advance uniform legislation in regard to bills of exchange, checks, bills of lading, and warehouse receipts."

"We seem to be rapidly approaching the time when, so far as concerns bills of exchange, there will, in effect, be only two systems, in use in the western hemisphere, based, respectively, on The Harrow rules of 1912 and the United States negotiable instruments act of 1916."

"The commission has also been glad to observe a growing interest in the adoption of uniform legislation on the subject of warehouse receipts, as well as on that of conditional sales."

Mr. Moore suggested that countries of the southern group which had ratified a treaty for the international protection of trademarks be permitted to register trademarks at the international bureau in Havana pending the establishment of a bureau at Rio Janeiro, which awaits ratification of the treaty by a sufficient number of countries of the southern group.

A progress had been made toward facilitating operations of commercial travelers, he said, by a treaty which substitutes a single national fee in place of local taxes on travelers. This convention has been signed and ratified by five countries and signed by three more while seven others are ready to sign."

A treaty for the establishment of an international gold clearance fund to assure the safety of deposited gold, avoid its shipment and stabilize exchange has been signed by two countries and approved in principle by eight others.

Agreements for the arbitration of commercial disputes have been made between the United States chamber of commerce and the national chambers of commerce of Uruguay, Ecuador, Panama and Guatemala. Other agreements are being negotiated.

LIFTING BAN MEANS PEACE

London Papers Declare Modification of Russian Blockade Ends Hostilities

Statement Decision Leaves Relations Unchanged Is Termed "Camouflage"

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Details of how the allies are to finance trade with the people of soviet Russia under the modified Russian blockade have not as yet been announced. It is contended in some quarters the decision of the supreme council to reopen trade relations was not a sudden one, but for months past and that the initiative in these negotiations was taken by Russian co-operative societies.

These societies, according to the Herald have maintained a difficult neutrality ever since the allies assisted Russian factions hostile to Lenin and Trotsky. The newspaper adds that Russian purchases will not be limited to £40,000,000, which it is understood the soviet government is prepared to place in foreign banks as soon as trade relations are established.

Other newspapers continue the discussion especially relative to the idea that the raising of the blockade entails the conclusion of peace with the soviet government. The Times which ascribed the decision to reopen relations entirely to Premier Lloyd George says: "The statement that this decision leaves unchanged the attitude of the allies toward the Bolshevik government is regarded as a palpable and insolent untruth."

The newspaper further contended that Lenin and Trotsky will certainly seize whatever goods are consigned to co-operative societies, and expresses the opinion that "Mr. Lloyd George's regard for home politics and advanced laborites had more to do with the decision than the sound views of national advantage and national honor."

The Chronicle which is a firm supporter of the premier attributes the decision to the supreme council at Paris and says:

"The statement that the council is dealing only with the co-operative societies and not the soviet government is camouflage."

The newspaper maintains the allies must make up their minds whether it is going to be peace or war with the Bolsheviks and if not prepared for war, ought without delay to take the lead in making peace and not indulge in a miserable scramble of successive capitulations."

Definite peace is coming, says the Daily News which adds that starvation in Europe is forcing the allies to end hostilities.

"The truth which this deviation brings home," says the News, "is that force has failed as it always does fail when employed in conflict with an idea."

Violent Headaches

I took RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, with the hopes that they would help me to get stronger. Having suffered from general weakness for a number of years, I was naturally pale and thin, had violent headaches, pains in the back, dizziness and palpitations. RED PILLS have done me an immense amount of good; under their influence I got stronger and rapidly took on weight.

600 VOLUNTEER NURSES GOING TO FIGHT "FLU"

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—A corps of 600 volunteer nurses today engaged in the combat to check the spread of influenza here.

While 1260 cases had been reported to the health authorities early today it was said that fewer cases were reported in the last 24 hours than during the preceding two days. Health department officials said the majority of the cases were mild. Fourteen deaths from pneumonia and five from influenza were recorded yesterday.

"Infla" on Ships
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Five influenza cases were discovered on board the French line steamer La Lorraine which arrived here today from Havre.

Among the passengers was Marc Peller, the new Swiss minister to Washington who will succeed Hans Suizer who recently resigned.

AGITATED BONES AT POSTOFFICE

The long corridor of Lowell's post-office was the scene of a zealous and enthusiastic "crap game" early last evening. No, it wasn't participated in by any of Uncle Sam's mailmen.

The audience which watched with close attention the rambling of the "bones" was made up of a quartet of youngsters, ranging in age from 15 to 18 years. Everything was progressing nicely, when Patrolman J. Clark interrupted the game and escorted the quartet to police headquarters on a charge of being present at a game on the Lord's Day.

One member of the quartet was arraigned in police court this morning. Tony Falsquinha was his name, he said, and he admitted that he had been among "those present."

Judge Enright stated that as the game had been played in a federal building it would in all probability be necessary for the federal authorities to handle the case and ordered Tony's case continued until Saturday. The other three youngsters, all of whom are juveniles, will also be arraigned in the federal courts, it is believed.

This was the only number on this morning's program.

There was one Lowellite arrested for drunkenness sometime between Saturday morning and last night, but the probation officer released him before court convened.

N. Y. GOVERNOR WISHES DE VALERA SUCCESS

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith, in a letter read at a mass meeting in the Lexington Theatre here yesterday, presided over by Eamon De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," expressed regret that he was unable to be present when the "freedom of the city of New York" was conferred on him.

He added that he looked forward with pleasure to meeting him in Albany on Jan. 21 and extend "sincere best wishes" for the success of the Irish republic.

Commander-in-Chief Warren Shaw Fisher of the United War Veterans presented Mr. De Valera with a large Irish silk flag and pledged the support of "his comrades to the cause of Ireland."

It was announced that $1550,000 had been subscribed in New York to the Irish loan. Present at the meeting were James O'Mara and James T. Burke of the Dail Eireann, or "Irish parliament," who were said to have reached the United States in the same unknown manner as De Valera. It was their first appearance at a public meeting. O'Mara is one of the three trustees of the finances of the "Irish republic."

$15,000 to Irish Fund

RUFFALO, Jan. 19.—The national board of directors of the Ancient Order of Hibernians ended its session here yesterday, subscribing with the women's auxiliary of the order $15,000 to the Irish republic loan.

HELD ANNUAL MID-WINTER TEA

Members of Notre Dame Alumnae association held their annual mid-winter tea yesterday afternoon at the academy in Adams street and despite the rigors of the weather, there was a large attendance of members, and the affair was delightful in every respect. Greetings were exchanged both among the members of the alumnae themselves and their former teachers. An excellent musicale was the entertainment feature of the afternoon, being held in the assembly hall. Miss Helen Broadbent of Boston, a coloratura soprano and pupil of Card Ziegler of the Metropolitan Opera Co., gave distinct pleasure in a series of numbers in which she was accompanied by Mrs. Joseph F. Donohoe of this city.

Other numbers included selections by Miss Estelle Coffey, harpist; Miss Margaret Donohoe and Miss Lucy Rheault, pianists and Miss Helen Cameron, violinist. After the musicale tea was served in the library under the direction of Miss Carmen Rediker assisted by Mrs. Joseph F. Donohoe, Mrs. John J. Murphy and Miss Margaret Donovan. Members of the class of 1919 in charge of Miss Frances O'Brien acted as usher.

The affair closed with benediction in the academy chapel, with Rev. Dr. James A. Supple as celebrant. Mrs. Donohoe was at the organ and all present joined in singing hymns. The officers of the alumnae association were in charge of the affair.

SALE OF BIGELOW HARTFORD PLANT

As was exclusively announced by The Sun last Wednesday, the huge plant of the Bigelow-Hartford Co., comprising more than one million square feet of floor space, and having an assessed valuation of $2,016,700, has been sold to outside interests, the purchasers being J. Murray Howe and J. D. K. Willis & Co. of Boston.

The sale, which is the largest individual transfer of real estate property in the history of the city, was put through by Robert E. Marden and John H. Murphy, local bank and investment men, who it is said, obtained the consent of the Bigelow-Hartford people to negotiate for the sale.

The Boston men buy for investment purposes and will re-sell or lease portions of the plant to a number of concerns. Officials connected with the American Woolen company's four mills in this city were confident that the plant would be acquired by that company and the presence of William A. Wood, president of the corporation, at the plant on several occasions just prior to the sale, gave rise to the belief that this concern would be the ultimate purchaser. This persistent rumor was well founded, al-

POPULARITY CONTEST WITH PRIZES

The popularity contest to be staged this evening and Wednesday night in Lincoln hall, in which an opportunity is afforded all attending to vote for the most popular president of any of the Lowell girls' clubs, already is attracting considerable attention, and this novelty will no doubt be interesting to the many club organizations, as well as their friends. A handsome prize on exhibition in the hat store at the corner of Prescott and Central streets will be presented the winner and all those entering should have their names in by 9 o'clock this evening. Miss Lottie Flannagan, president of the Just-A-Moment Girls' club, is one of the early entrants and the members are working hard for her success. An excellent program has been arranged for both evenings by the management and a good time is assured all who attend.

KEEP SIDEWALKS CLEARED OF SNOW

Lowell people must keep their sidewalks cleared of snow. So says Supt. Welch. The chief reminds the public that the law states that after storms during the night the sidewalks in front of dwelling houses and other establishments must be cleared before noon, and when the storm occurs during the daylight hours the snow must be removed one hour after the storm is over. Householders and property owners are liable for accidents caused by the unsafe condition of their sidewalks, he declared.

COASTER DIES OF GANGRENE

HAVERHILL, Jan. 19.—Two deaths occurred at the Hale hospital yesterday when 12-year-old Alexander Terskevitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Terskevitz, 320 River street, died of gangrene, and Josephine Schena, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schena, 122 River street, died of burns.

The Terskevitz boy was sliding on Ayer street last Friday morning when his sled ran into a pole. A six-inch splinter of the sled pierced his groin and gangrene set in.

The Schena child had been sliding Friday morning and went into the house to get warm. She sat in front of the kitchen fire and in some way her clothing caught fire and she was burned fatally.

The railroads are indispensable to our whole economic life, and railway securities are at the very heart of most investments, large and small, public and private, by individuals and by institutions.

WOODROW WILSON

THE war could not have been won without railroads. Transport—by rail and sea—is an indispensable arm of national defense.

Carrying capacity, from the wheat fields and the mines and the steel mills to the front lines in France, was the measure of our power in war.

And it is the measure of our power in peace.

Industrial expansion—increasing national prosperity—greater world trade—are vitally dependent on railroad growth.

The limit to the productive power of this country is the limit set by railroad capacity to haul the products of our industry.

The amount of freight carried on American rails doubled from 1897 to 1905—since that year it has doubled again.

It will double still again.

To haul this rapidly growing traffic the country must have more railroads—more cars and engines—more tracks and terminals.

Sound national legislation, broad-visioned public regulation, will encourage the expansion of railroads, without which the nation cannot grow.

VOLUNTEER FIREFIGHTERS EXTINGUISH FLAMES

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Dr. Samuel H. Murlin, president of Boston university, with his wife and Jacques Hoffmann, symphony orchestra violinist, figured as efficient fire fighters early today when flames threatened to destroy the large apartment house at 51 Hemenway street.

The firemen who had been delayed by wrong telephone directions, found Dr. Murlin on a step ladder throwing water from pans handed him by Mrs. Murlin, while Hoffmann was using a fire extinguisher. The fire started from an overheated chimney and was extinguished with small loss. Fire chiefs congratulated the volunteers saying that but for their efforts the damage would have been much more serious.

Let everybody boom production and construction, the great sources of our prosperity.

Some people predict that burglars will hereafter pass the banks and give more attention to cellars in which liquor is stored.

It is now in order for every class of municipal employees to put in a demand or, better still, introduce a bill providing for pensions. If juniors, why not others with equal right, which is no right at all?

The United States has decided wisely in refusing further aid in repelling the Bolshevik advance through Siberia. The proposition is too vast, too vague and too foreign to be taken up by our government.

It does not appear that much progress had been made toward a compromise on the peace treaty by the contending forces at Washington. The trouble seems to be that each side wishes to have the other do the compromising.

Somewhat, that name "Ilango," Finland, seems to fit into the scheme of things which surround the adventures of the passengers of the Ark of the Soviet. It was a good place to land them and we earnestly hope they will hang around there for some time to come.

The All-for-Lowell dinner at Memorial hall this evening, promises to be an enjoyable affair. The speakers, who are men of national prominence, will surely be entertaining and instructive. The work of organizing the new Chamber of Commerce goes booming along.

The action of the peace council in deciding that the allies shall lift the Russian blockade, indicates a disposition to conciliate the Bolshevik regime. Possibly this course may cause Trotsky and Lenin to call a halt on the Bolshevik advance towards Persia and India.

In honor of Benjamin Franklin, the great apostle of thrift, whose birthday occurred on January 17, Gov. Coolidge has proclaimed a week for the observance of "thrift" by the citizens of Massachusetts. Now that the liquor business has been suppressed and that everybody is expected to be good, this thrift week offers an opportunity to all citizens to look over their affairs, eliminate extravagance and practice real thrift and economy for one week, and then keep it up for the rest of the year.

The first serious coasting accident locally has come, occurring at a corner which was termed dangerous, when an automobile and double-runner crashed. We can only repeat the oft uttered warning against the usage of public thoroughfares as coasting places, and venture to say that sooner or later, this will resolve itself into a problem for the city council to deal with through the medium of a prohibitive ordinance. The police should regulate coasting so that the children who indulge the sport may have some protection.

Commendable indeed, is the rumored project of the residents of Pawtucketville to agitate the creation of a river bank park adequately to set off the war memorial the residents of that district are to erect for their war heroes. We believe the city must ultimately come to the alternative of outlining street and park development covering a certain period of years, so much to be accomplished each year until the program is completed. Under present conditions, it is most impractical and almost impossible to put through a large project in one year, but a plan may be laid out whereby the burden of cost can be distributed over a span of years.

The peace conference has demanded that Holland shall turn over the kaiser for trial on the charge of having committed great international crimes, one of which was starting the world war. It is all right to try the kaiser perhaps, if a just trial can be provided. This is very doubtful, but as for executing him, we believe the world will not approve any such drastic action. It may be well, however, to provide the kaiser with a suitable home in which he can enjoy peace and contentment for the rest of his life, after the manner of the great Napoleon at St. Helena, the man whom the kaiser seemed to emulate in his ambition to conquer the world.

We are inclined to agree with Commissioner Salmon in his stand for a special audit of the water department accounts. Not because we think there is any special need of an audit at this time more than formerly, but it is in the line of wise business policy to find out just how a department of this kind stands when the administration changes. It will be remembered that Commissioner Morse made certain charges relative to the conditions prevailing when he assumed control of the department. These statements to a great extent were contradicted by his predecessor in office. Had Mr. Morse called for a survey of the department when he took charge, there would be no room for any such controversy.

BIG BILLS HELD UP

A large amount of reconstruction legislation is being held up for an apparently indefinite period because of the illness of Senator Boies Penrose, the admitted "boss" of the republican party in congress. When the senate finance committee, of which Senator Penrose is chairman, will be permitted to function without his direction, is a problem.

Senator Penrose is now ill at his Philadelphia home and is likely to go to Florida to recuperate. Until he delegates his power to either Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota, the second ranking republican member of the committee, or Reed Smoot of Utah, next in line, business of even more than national importance must wait.

This situation is causing some exhibitions of marked impatience among senators of both the democratic and republican parties. The latter is more quiescent as, one and all, they bow before the sceptre of the "big boss." But they realize the political hole into which Senator Penrose has put them and are attempting to scramble out. They privately argue that as the much vaunted extra session of the republican-controlled congress failed to pass most of the constructive legislation recommended by President Wilson and even by their own party leaders, it is hardly good politics to withhold from the nation these financial bills that were squeezed through the house of representatives.

STOP CROAKING—KEEP BUSY

People who complain of the high cost of living and who think a depression which would bring down the high prices with a crash might be useful, are greatly mistaken.

Those who have gone through some of our industrial panics in the past will throw up their hands in horror at the thought of a panic with idle factories, low wages or no wages, soup kitchens and crowded almshouses. The people at the present time should thank God for the busy factories, the high wages and the abounding prosperity. What if the cost of living is high when you have the money to meet it?

What causes most people to murmur is the greatly reduced purchasing power of the dollar; but they should remember that in most cases they are earning nearly twice as much as they received ten or fifteen years ago, and if their dollars buy only half as much as before, they are getting their money's worth.

Therefore, let there be no pessimism over present conditions. We have gone through the greatest of all wars and saved the world from barbarism. It will require some years to restore normal conditions; and in the meantime, it is the duty of all to go forward with firm confidence in the future, assured that for Lowell and the country in general, the years to come hold not calamity but abundant prosperity.

Hence we say to the pessimists—stop croaking, cheer up and keep busy at productive labor.

PERSHING ENTERS

General Wood will not be allowed to utilize all the military prestige of the nation to promote his candidacy for president. General Pershing, who it was supposed would take no active step toward seeking the nomination, is now an avowed candidate as his campaign literature is flying from Lincoln, Nebraska, and other cities, to all parts of the country. It is true that he has not yet issued any personal statement, but not even his most intimate friends would take this liberally without his approval. If the republican nomination goes to a military man, that man should be Pershing or some such man as General Edwards, who rendered valiant service overseas.

So far as we can judge, General Wood has always been a much over-rated man who, in every position he has held, has had a keen eye out for official preferment. He is an army politician who has never shown any special talent either for tactics or administrations. We should not like to see him elected president because he is not a big enough man for the job.

BRITISH PROPAGANDISTS

The work of the British propagandists in this country should be stopped. Of late, it has been becoming quite meddlesome and aggressive. It is poking its nose into our affairs and even criticizing us wherever we depart from the British style of doing things.

These paid propagandists are all able and highly educated men. They are good speakers and good writers.

But why should England loose a horde of such men in the United States at this time, for the purpose of telling us what Britain has done for us, how much we owe to England as "the mother of our freedom," and how ungrateful we are to listen to any man like President De Valera of the Irish republic, when he says that England ever did anything unjust to Ireland?

They are telling us that our school histories belie England in reference to the revolution, that the "mother" country did none of the terrible things then charged against her.

If we believe these men in such matters, we cannot very well believe that George Washington was inebriated with the fidelity to truth with which his biographers have credited him.

One of these British propagandists addressed a teachers' convention at Boston a short time ago, and told us that our school histories needed to be rewritten out of respect to England. Doubtless at the present time, some of the publishers enlisted in this movement are already writing pro-British histories for use in the public schools of this country.

Do not such statements show a disposition to inculcate British ideas in our schools instead of American? Yet these gentlemen speak with apparent confidence that their views of Americanism will be accepted as superior to our own because they are British.

In a recent speech at Boston, Mr. George Tucker said the narrow interpretation of "American First," if practised, would destroy America; but this gentleman and some other propagandists think it would do harm to put "England first."

He says De Valera is deserving of the death of Bolo Pasha, the French traitor, because, as alleged by this British advocate, the Irish leader worked "insidiously" against the United States when her sons were dying to defend France.

That statement is palpably false because the Irish rebellion occurred at Easter, 1916, and De Valera was not free to oppose anybody when we were at war in Europe during 1917 and 1918. Neither he nor his compatriots did anything to oppose the United States or the allied cause after the United States declared war on Germany. That Ireland became lukewarm in the war was due to the fact that England refused to put the home rule bill into effect. This is what brought the Sinn Fein into power and prominence.

This same speaker, in his Lowell address, while wishing to convince us that England has been our staunchest friend, went so far as to intimate that Dewey could not have won the battle at Manila bay had not England been at his back. Here are his words:

"Because of the support of England in Manila bay, Commodore Dewey was able to say to the self-projecting and annoying Admiral Tubb of the German navy: 'Don't get your flagship between my guns and the enemy.'"

On this point also, as well as in reference to the war of the revolution, England would rewrite our history to suit herself and give her whatever credit might be attached to the event.

With similar presumption, the English premier voiced British sentiment a few weeks ago by saying that England had just defeated the greatest empire on earth.

Berger to take his seat, saying that "England did something of that kind more than a hundred years ago and failed." Again is England held up as the model in all such matters. "This was the first instance in which we have known any of these learned propagandists to admit that England ever made a mistake."

In all seriousness, we believe it is time for these gentlemen to subside. They are liable to overdo the thing if they have not done so already by their lecturing the American people on Americanism as England would have it—subservient to her international aims.

"Pa," said a young lady to her farmer dad, "I wish you wouldn't say 'I seen.' I don't know how many times, pa, I've corrected you on that."

"Now, Mamie, you look a-here," said the old man, shoveling a generous piece of beach pie into his mouth with his knife, "you make yer livin' by good grammar and education, but yer ma and me, we're obliged to take in summer boarders, and, by jiminy, they demand the dialect if they pay the rates."

Charlie's Aunt
Ma, Pa was not much of a man for theatres. Music halls or even musical comedies he was always ready to patronize; they came under a different heading, in his opinion. But as for the drama proper, he it either serious or farcical, it bored him to distraction.

However, little Phyllis—little Phyllis was his niece, by the way—insisted on his taking her to a theatre. So there he was. He had no alternative. He went, and, what is more, during the curtain-raiser fell into a heavy sleep.

When the main piece came on, little Phyllis nudged him and whispered gently, "Charlie's Aunt"—just that and nothing more.

But Ma, Pa, rising hastily to his feet, vigorously seized the hand of an old lady, who happened to be passing in front of him.

"How d'you do, ma'am?" he exclaimed. "How d'you do? I'm very glad to see you. And how's Charlie?"

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Pawtucketville residents are very enthusiastic over the plans for the creation of a public park along the Merrimack river at the Varnum avenue end of the new Pawtucket bridge and the installation therein of a memorial monument to the world war heroes of that section of the city. I was talking to one of the prominent members of the committee in charge of the memorial and he said that with the proper cooperation on the part of the city officials an excellent park could be laid out that would be a boon not only as a health centre but would also add materially to the aesthetic surroundings of the new bridge. Nature has presented a wonderful opportunity along the bank of the river at that section.

He said, and it is up to the city government to make the most of it. He pointed out that little or no money had been given the park department for new work to the past few years and suggested that a new tract be turned by the municipal council when it comes time to make up 1920 estimates.

That the local police should do something to discourage children from coasting on some of the city's streets

One of these men said today that he almost ran over two youngsters last week who were coasting down a hill in the Highlands. "The boys were dragging their sleds up the hill and as his auto came down the incline one had tripped the other and both fell directly into the path of the on-coming car. 'I stopped my machine within a few inches of the pair,' said my friend, 'but you can believe me it gave me quite a scare.' Coasting down streets leading into busy thoroughfares is dangerous business, but if any of the coasters get killed, somebody else is likely to be blamed."

COMING BACK TO LIFE

Woman Who Slept For 69 Days Tells Her Story—

Real Sensation

Editor's Note—How does it feel to go to sleep, curling sleeping so long that the doctors give up all hope that you will awaken, be pronounced dead, and then gradually awaken to discover that you've slept over two months and that in spite of all predictions to the contrary you are going to get well and live for the sake of your babies? Mrs. Dora Mintz, New York woman, whose long sleep and unexpected recovery is puzzling physicians of the entire world, has answered these questions for readers of The Sun.

BY MRS. DORA MINTZ

How does it feel to be brought back from the land of the dead to the land of the living?

I can answer that question in four words, "It feels like heaven." But in order that the readers of The Sun may understand my strange affliction I must go back to the days when I had influenza. That was during the latter part of September. I had recovered enough to be up and doing some of my household work when I began to feel drowsy all of the time.

Became Alarmed

Finally, when I went to sleep leaning against the kitchen door, I became alarmed and had my husband send for the doctor. He had put me to bed and all I can remember about his being there was that I felt glad that he said I needed rest.

On October 6, after the doctors had pronounced my case spinal meningitis. I can now remember wishing that everyone would go away and let me sleep and yet feeling that I wasn't doing right, sleeping so much instead of taking care of my babies. On the next day I went to sleep—to stay asleep for 69 days.

Although I was awakened to a semi-conscious state every day during my 69 days' sleep, I can remember but three things during that time.

The first thing I remember is feeling pain when doctors at the hospital made an examination of my spine and I showed signs of sinking deeper into my sleep. They sent for my husband to tell him I was dying and I can vaguely remember him shaking me and begging me to awake.

Music Came in Dream

The next thing I remember is some sort of a dream that someone was trying to drag my baby away from me, and faintly hearing some music that annoyed me. This, I suppose, was the time that a violinist was called in to try and awaken me with the vibration caused by playing on his violin.

The last thing I remember is the doctor in charge of my case saying: "You wouldn't let me hold your hand, would you, Mrs. Mintz?" Although I was not conscious I can remember thinking it a good joke and said laughingly, "Of course you can."

The doctor then predicted that I would get well and a few days later I really woke up and the time I am awake is growing longer each day. I believe I am the happiest woman in the world to know that my babies are not going to be motherless as they have been during my 69-day sleep.

It's no fun to be a Mrs. Rip Van Winkle.

NO CENSORSHIP OF LIQUOR BOOKS
(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—Prohibition Commissioner Kremer and Senator Morris Sheppard, father of the National Prohibition bill, both state the removal from shelves of public libraries of books containing information regarding manufacture of intoxicating liquor, is something they never heard suggested nor does it come within the meaning of the law. Neither will criticize the specific action of any community but both made it evident such drastic steps did not entirely meet their approval. Said Kremer: "Such a suggestion never came from this department," said Sheppard: "The law did not contemplate any such action and the purpose of the bill was to merely carry out its terms." In fact both gentlemen seemed amused and greatly surprised when informed of the action of certain New England libraries.

Three hours later this same blaze re-kindled and the department was again called. The damage was done a telephone alarm was sent in for a slight automobile fire in Middlesex street.

City Wind-swept

residential streets with brittle twigs and tree boughs.

Street railway officials declared it to be the worst storm they had been called upon to fight for 20 years at least and, despite their best efforts to keep the rails clear and the cars in motion, schedules went into the discard as drifts piled up faster than plows could cut them through. Trolley wires stood the tremendous test well, but even with this in its favor the local division was backed against the wall and had to be content to run its cars as best it could.

The Gale Strikes

The gale did not strike the city in its hurricane rush down the valley until about 9 o'clock. The earlier cars were not bothered in the least. The 7:07 a. m. car, Billerica bound, traveled its round trip and arrived back at the terminal at 8:25, only three minutes late, but from then on trouble began to pile up. A dozen plows went into action, but their crews were forced to see the track behind them cover up as quickly as they passed. The Lexington route went out of commission early in the day and the Woburn end of that Boston line also was tied up as tight as a drum, but later plowed out.

City line cars could make but little headway as the forenoon lengthened and shortly after 1 o'clock a Chelmsford Centre car left the rails to make matters worse. But the drifting of the snow in piles two feet high almost in a minute was the biggest factor in the attack of the elements. For instance, two cars might leave the square together to run over the same route and the first would get through, while the second, only a few yards behind, would stick fast in the drifts which followed in the wake of the leader.

Pedestrians Buffeted

How about pedestrians? That is a story in itself which might easily be gathered together in one huge volume, made up of individual experiences and sensations. That it was distinctly not a day to be out of doors, everyone will agree, but thousands pushed out of the churches and faced a wind of intense bitterness and tremendous strength. Those who walked into it were buffeted and tossed about like a chip on a surging sea, while those who walked with it were lifted along by the strength of unseen hands. It reached a velocity of at least 40 miles an hour at times and literally took the breath from the body and was blinding in its fierceness.

Few there were, who attempted to operate motor cars and the streets were practically deserted throughout the greater part of the day.

Heating of houses and buildings was a problem as every chimney was a roaring funnel, and it is safe to say that the day's consumption of coal for heating purposes will not be equalled this winter. It was a case of shovel, shovel, shovel, and housekeepers

Instances of trouble caused by the storm were too numerous to catalogue. they strike a person.

A snowplow left the rails in Bridge street and headed for the alley near the Keith building, but was pulled back by a sister plow after considerable bother.

Supt. John Kernan of the park department was at his office at city hall early in the day and had every available man of the department out in all sections of the city clearing away the debris caused by broken limbs. No whole trees were reported down, but there was a wholesale spilling of branches of sufficient size to demand the immediate attention of the department. The men remained out practically all day, or as long as they could stand the gale and all street and sidewalk obstructions were cleared away. Altogether it was a day which will linger long in the memory of those who had to be out of doors and may well be recorded for the enlightenment of future generations as an illuminating sample of a "hard-boiled" New England winter.

CONDITIONS IN IRELAND

Six Members of Parliamentary Labor Party To Conduct Investigation

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Six members of the parliamentary labor party left London today for Dublin, where they will study conditions in Ireland. The delegation consists of Arthur Henderson, William Adamson, John H. Clynes, W. T. Wilson, John A. Parkison and W. R. Smith. From Dublin they will go to Belfast, Cork and other centers and seek to obtain the viewpoint of all sections of Irish opinion.

The arrival of the labor leaders will be welcomed in some quarters, but the Irish laborers, who are learning that Sinn Féin elements and Irish labor leaders are less friendly and to some extent, cold and critical. They say, according to reports that English laborers are already aware that the overwhelming majority of the Irish are determined to establish a republic, and that an inquiry whether British government of Ireland is good or bad is of minor interest. The supreme objection to the plan is that it will not insure an Irish government, it is said.

Text of Note to Dutch made public this morning. It follows: "Paris, Jan. 15, 1920. "In notifying by these presents the Netherlands government and queen of the text of article 227 of the treaty of Versailles, a certified copy of which is annexed, which came into force Jan. 10, the powers have the honor to make known at the same time that they have decided to put into execution without delay this article. (Article 227 publicly arraigns William II, of Germany for a supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties, and declares the allied and associated powers will address a request to the Netherlands government for his surrender in order that he may be placed on trial.)

Consequently, the powers address to the government of The Netherlands, an official demand to deliver into their hands William of Hohenzollern, former emperor of Germany in order that he may be judged.

"Individuals residing in Germany against whom the allied and associated powers have brought charges are to be delivered to them under article 228 of the peace treaty, and the former emperor, if he had remained in Germany would have been delivered under the same conditions by the German government.

"The Netherlands government is conversant with the incontrovertible reasons which imperiously exact that premeditated violations of international treaties as well as systematic disregard of the most sacred rules and rights of nations, should receive special punishment provided by the peace congress. The powers briefly recall among so many crimes, the cynical violations of the neutrality of Belgium and Luxembourg, the barbarous and pitiless system of hostages, deportation en masse, the carrying off of young girls from the city of Lille, who were torn from their families and delivered defenseless to the worst promiscuity; the systematic devastation of entire regions without military utility, the submarine war without restriction, including inhuman abandonment of victims on the high seas, and innumerable acts against non-combatants committed by German authority in violation of the laws of war.

"Responsibility, at least moral, for all these acts reaches up to the supreme head, who ordered them, or made abusive use of his full powers to infringe or to allow infringement upon the most sacred regulations of human conscience.

"The powers cannot conceive that the government of The Netherlands can regard with less reprobation than themselves the immense responsibility of the former emperor.

"Holland would not fulfill her international duty if she refused to associate herself with other nations as far as her means allow in undertaking of at least chastisement of the crimes committed.

"In addressing this demand to the Dutch government the powers believe it their duty to emphasize its special character. It is their duty to insure the execution of article 227 without allowing themselves to be stopped by arguments, because it is not a question of a public accusation with juridical character as regards its basis, but an act of high international policy imposed by the universal conscience in which legal forms have been provided solely to assure to the accused such guarantees as were never before recognized in public law. The powers are convinced Holland which has always shown respect for the right and love of justice having been one of the first to claim a place in the societies will not be willing to cover by her moral authority the violation of principles essential to the solidarity of nations, all of which are equally interested in preventing the return of a similar catastrophe.

"It is to the highest interest of the Dutch people, not to appear to protect the principal author of this catastrophe by allowing him shelter on her territory, and also to facilitate his trial, which is claimed by the voices of millions of victims.

COASTING COMES

INTO ITS OWN

Coasting came into its own in Lowell today for the city's younger set and very few hills within the city limits, barring those which are considered unsafe by the police, were without their quota of youngsters, supplied with sled or double runner. In all sections of the city one found that the "coasting was great" although, of course, the drifts of yesterday spoiled temporarily the surface of some of the popular winter resorts. And everyone had a "wonderful" time.

privilege of meeting with you and personally expressing the gratification which every officer of this government feels because of your presence at the national capital and particularly because of the friendly and significant mission which brings you to us.

"I rejoice with you that in these troubled times of world reconstruction, the republics of the American continent should seek no selfish purpose, but should be guided by a desire to serve one another and to serve the world to the utmost of their capacity. The great privileges that have been shown upon us, both by reason of our geographical position and because of the high political and social ideals that have determined the national development of every country of the American continent, carry with them obligations, the fulfillment of which must be regarded as a real privilege by every true American.

"It is no small achievement that the Americas are today able to say to the world: 'Here is an important section of the globe which has today eliminated the idea of conquest from its national thought and from its international policy.'"

"The spirit of mutual helpfulness which animates the conference supplements and strengthens this important achievement of international policy. I rejoice with you that we are privileged to assemble with the sole purpose of ascertaining how we can serve one another for in so doing we best serve the world.

(Signed)

"WOODROW WILSON"

Sec. Glass Welcomes Delegates

Secretary Glass after reading President Wilson's message, welcomed the delegates. The conference, he said, was destined to be fruitful of important results in the interchange of information between the officials and financiers of the two continents. He declared it was more and more necessary that those in high places should know one another since the policies of one nation vitally bear on those of another.

Secretary Lansing's Speech

Secretary Lansing then welcomed the delegates on behalf of the American government.

The conference is a "new manifestation of the mutual interest and friendship which means so much to the common welfare of our nations," Mr. Lansing said. He declared that the first conference in 1915, summoned to discuss difficulties arising from European hostilities, marked a distinct advance in the development of constructive Pan-Americanism by translating the spirit of helpfulness into practical effect which contrasted boldly with the struggle across the seas.

"It is fitting," the secretary of state continued, "that with the close of that conflict, when an exhausted world is groping amidst the ruins of past prosperity to find foundations on which to rebuild its shattered fortunes, that our republics should again assemble in conference to consider the financial and economic problems of the new era and to devise ways of adjusting our lives and intercourse to the new conditions in harmony with the impelling spirit of Pan-Americanism.

"It is evident to all that the war and its waste of life and treasure have profoundly influenced the relation of the Americas to world affairs. We cannot avoid the new responsibilities to one another and to the world. We ought not to avoid them, even if we could. And I but echo the united voice of the Americas when I declare that we will take up the burden thrust upon us and with confidence press forward to the better days which lie in the future.

"In addition to the recognition of our duty to one another we have a greater mission, a world mission, to fulfill. The Americas stand for certain political and social ideals, which permeated our very existence as nations since we declared and achieved our independence. Of these the most important is the orderly development of political institutions based on the supremacy of the popular will and the equality of economic opportunity unimpaired by special privilege or class distinction. We are free peoples consecrated to liberty and jealous of our rights as nations and as individuals. We can render to humanity no greater service than to preserve these lofty ideals untouched by sordid or selfish purpose as living witnesses of their beneficent power over the affairs of men. If, in addition to this, we demonstrate in our international intercourse that the American policy is guided by a spirit of helpfulness rather than by national selfishness, we shall make a contribution to world progress and to civilization which will bear its present reward and be remembered with gratitude by posterity.

Bryan Greeted

William Jennings Bryan was one of the early arrivals at the conference receiving a cordial welcome from diplomats whom he met in the course of negotiating arbitration treaties with their countries when he was secretary of state. He said he would not make a speech.

LEAKING BUT

IN NO DANGER

Liner Cedric Standing by Army Transport Powhatan, With 500 on Board

Passengers "Calm and Comfortable," Says Wireless—

Sent S.O.S. Calls Yesterday

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The army transport Powhatan, in distress about 700 miles east of New York, reported by wireless to the army transport offices here at 4 a. m. today that although she was leaking and her boiler room flooded, she was in "no immediate danger." The 600 passengers were "calm and comfortable," the message said. When the sea becomes smoother the passengers will be transferred to the White Star liner Cedric, which is standing by. The transport will keep aloft for several days Captain Randall wireless.

The United States Shipping board steamer Western Comet, which is among the vessels nearby, will attempt to tow the Powhatan to Halifax, the nearest port, after the passengers have been transferred to the Cedric. The British steamer Bardic, bound from London to New York, is another vessel standing by.

The Powhatan left New York last Friday for Antwerp. First news of the accident was received Sunday afternoon, when S.O.S. calls were sent out.

A line from the British steamer Bardic has been made fast to the disabled transport Powhatan, and an attempt will be made to tow the vessel into Halifax, a later wireless message from Captain Randall to the army transport service here, stated. In addition two American destroyers, two coast guard cutters, and several tugs from Halifax are proceeding to her assistance under full steam.

"A tremendous sea is running," the wireless message stated. Although the passengers on the Powhatan are comfortable, they will be transferred to the White Star liner steamer Cedric for safety as soon as the seas moderate.

The transport at last reports was still taking water. The cause of the leak was unknown here. Army transport officials said that prior to going to sea on this trip the transport was given a thorough overhauling and inspection.

Of British registry, she flies the colors of the Black Star Line Steamship Corporation, the first company of the kind owned entirely by negroes.

"We Are O. K."

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—An intercepted message from the disabled transport Powhatan at 9.15 a. m. today said: "We are O. K. Water practically stopped, but passengers very uncomfortable with no heat or light."

American Steamer Ashore

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The American steamship Luke Harney, a vessel in the coastwise service was reported ashore today one and a half miles east of Bluepoint coast guard station, on the Long Island coast, and about 15 miles from Ireland.

SNOWSHOE PARTY

BRAVES NORTH WIND

Braving the storm yesterday afternoon two young women and two young men of this city show-shoed over the Pawtucket boulevard to the so-called half-pin curve and upon their return they reported it was great sport to climb over snow drifts, helped along by a swift gale. The party consisted of Misses Alma Mineau and Lea Archambault and Messrs. Victor Rochette and Wilfrid Dezel.

In the forenoon the young men discussed the possibilities of a snow shoe hike and the young women volunteered to accompany them on any trip they might undertake. So accordingly 2 o'clock was set as the starting time, but the boys were not serious for they never thought the members of the fair sex would carry out their end of the program. They were caught at their word, however, for at 2 o'clock Misses Mineau and Archambault were ready for the trip and the quartet started out. The hike began at Varum avenue and the boulevard and continued until the half-pin curve was reached, when the boys announced they were satisfied. The party then returned to the city, the girls none the worse for their hike, and upon reaching the home of Undertaker and Mrs. Archambault the party was served a hot luncheon.
